

Wilson Carries 39 States With 415 Electoral Votes

SOME DOUBT REMAINS IN OCCASIONAL SPOT

But It Cannot Effect Nation-Wide Victory Scored by Wilson and Marshall Yesterday.

TAFT IS FAR BEHIND THE COLONEL

Wilson Landslide Has Carried in Tremendous Democratic Majority in House of Representatives.

New York, Nov. 6.—Without affecting in the slightest the certainty that Wilson and Marshall yesterday captured an overwhelming majority of the electoral vote, conservative estimates at 1 p. m. today compelled a transfer to the doubtful column of some states where the results had been recorded as certain. Among these states were Iowa with thirteen votes, and Minnesota with twelve, and ultra conservatives even included Illinois with twenty-nine votes, and Pennsylvania with thirty-eight. At that hour Wyoming's three votes and South Dakota's five had not been placed.

Upset All Calculations.

Heavy reductions in the early reports of a large majority for Roosevelt in Kansas, upset all calculations, so that at this hour Roosevelt's lead over Wilson had narrowed to 625 votes on returns from about one-fourth of the precincts.

In Illinois the heavy Wilson vote outside of Cook county, had reduced Roosevelt's lead to about 15,000 as against the estimated 100,000 or more given him last night upon the Chicago returns.

The Roosevelt supporters declared at 1 p. m. that this was no reason to put Pennsylvania in the doubtful list, even though they admitted that early reports of the colonel's plurality probably had been exaggerated.

How the Score Stood.

New York, Nov. 6.—On the basis of at least partial returns from every state at noon today, the indicated results of yesterday's balloting were:

Wilson, 39 states; 415 electoral votes.

Roosevelt, 6 states; 104 electoral votes.

Taft, 3 states; 12 electoral votes.

Available figures on house of representatives: Democrats, 267; republicans, 99; progressives, 6; districts unreported, 63. This is twenty-two more than the democratic membership in the sixty-second congress.

Uncertain in Pennsylvania.

While the apparent Roosevelt pluralities reported last evening are diminishing in Iowa and Illinois, the situation in Pennsylvania still shows some uncertainty, but with very strong probabilities that the state has been carried for Roosevelt by a plurality approximating 20,000.

South Dakota was still uncertain at a late hour. Returns from practically half the precincts of the state had been received, and these gave Roosevelt a lead over both Wilson and Taft.

The first definite returns from Wyoming, in early estimates very generally conceded to the republicans, showed that Wilson had a slight lead over Taft, with about one-fourth of the state heard from.

The Roosevelt Strength.

Second only in interest to the overwhelming victory of Governor Wilson and his running mate, Gov. Marshall, of Indiana, was the strength shown by Colonel Roosevelt in Illinois, Pennsylvania and other states. On returns received up to 8 o'clock this morning from states where the result was reasonably certain, it appears that Governor Wilson would have almost, if not quite, four hundred of the 531 votes in the electoral college, and that Colonel Roosevelt would have nearly 100.

Twelve for Taft; Some in Doubt.

President Taft had received twelve votes, those of Idaho, Vermont and Utah, while the forty-seven votes of Iowa, Minnesota, New Hampshire, South Dakota and Wyoming remained in the doubtful class.

In the hours that intervened between midnight and the receipt of fairly complete reports this morning there were many important changes in the results as earlier reported from closely contested states.

Based on returns from over half the state, the thirty-

Returns Very Incomplete

Counties.

"Generally speaking, I'm tickled to death," said Congressman Cyrus Cline in a telephone message to The Sentinel this afternoon, "but I am sorry that I lost out right at home."

"It looks to me like it's mighty close and I can not see the majority of 116 claimed by Mr. Lane. The way I have it figured out is that I lost Steuben county by about 45 votes. We made a grand fight here and I was very much in hope that I would win."

"I have been trying hard to get some figures on which to base an estimate, but the returns are a little slow. However, I feel sure that I will have at least 2,000 in the district."

Returns from Steuben that purport to have been taken from the election returns show Lane obtained 1,492, Cline 1,380 and Litman 740, but at Angola the election officials say they have not yet been able to tabulate the vote.

Taken as a whole the district has rolled up a nice democratic majority, but slow returns from some of the smaller counties make it a most difficult matter to furnish any reliable statistics. Seven precincts in DeKalb county were out this afternoon and in a county that is normally from 300 to 800 democratic the Taft and Roosevelt vote combined will exceed that given to the democratic presidential candidate.

Lagrange county had not tabulated its votes this afternoon, although all the returns were in. Enough had been learned to insure that Cline had carried the county and that the democratic county ticket had been elected. Litman's vote had been tabulated and given at 1,108, Lane 920 and Cline between 1,300 and 1,400.

Albion, Ind., Nov. 6.—Late this afternoon not more than half the precincts had been tabulated for the reason that the returns were incorrect and in many instances it was necessary to send election officials back with their returns and have them call their boards to correct errors and omissions.
It will be impossible before late tonight or early tomorrow to get at the actual results, but from the half of the thirty-precincts on which the returns

WILL DROP POLITICS

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Nov. 6.—There was no interruption in the routine at Sagamore Hill on account of the outcome of yesterday's election. Col. Roosevelt was back at his desk today as though nothing out of the ordinary had happened.

He was up at 7 o'clock and soon as he had breakfast he sent for his secretary and picked up the work where he had dropped it the previous afternoon. "There is not a word that I can say just now," said the colonel this afternoon. "I may have something to say tonight."

Several hundred telegrams from all parts of the country reached Col. Roosevelt this morning and a pile of letters covered the top of his desk. Col. Roosevelt expects to drop politics as far as possible for the time, leaving the detailed work to his lieutenants.

BULLETIN.

Indianapolis, Nov. 6.—In 2,000 precincts of Indiana Woodrow Wilson received 186,782 votes; Taft, 90,821; Roosevelt, 94,709; Debs, 9,754. Wilson had a plurality of 72,709 over Roosevelt, next highest candidate.

This averages 40.5 to the precinct, and if the ratio is continued through the 3,172 precincts of the state, his plurality would be 128,468.

Roosevelt leads Taft in the 2,000 precincts with 4,438—an average of five to the precinct.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 6.—The democratic landslide in Indiana is complete. That much is certain, though complete figures are not yet available.

Governor Marshall delivered his own state to his running mate by a plurality that promises to go considerably above 100,000, with Roosevelt running second. Judge Ralston has defeated Mr. Beveridge and Mr. Durbin for the governorship by a plurality that promises to be the 100,000 mark, and the entire democratic ticket is victorious with him.

Long Democratic Lead.
With less than half of the precincts of the state reported early today, giving the democratic national ticket a plurality of nearly 75,000 it appeared that the lead would near the 100,000 mark by the time the vote is counted from the missing districts. Roosevelt Athens, Nov. 6.—A Greek naval squadron today occupied the Turkish island of Tenedos, near the entrance to the Dardanelles. The investment by the Greeks of the fortress is nearly complete.

Belgrade, Serbia, Nov. 6.—Novarush, the last Turkish position in the district of Novipazar, has surrendered to the Serbian troops without resistance. Six Turkish officers and 225 men were taken prisoners and 250 rifles were handed over to the Serbians.

ALLEN COUNTY GOES DEMOCRATIC BY 5,000

Gives Handsome Plurality to Wilson and Marshall, Ralston, Cline and County Nominees.

KRUSE IS LEADER ON COUNTY TICKET

The voters of Allen county unitedly gave their strength in the support of the county, district, state and national democratic ticket. Every city precinct and every township in the county returned safe and substantial pluralities for the democratic candidates from president down, making the victory one of the most complete ever recorded in this county.

It is estimated that Wilson's plurality will exceed 4,500, and the candidates for congress, joint senator and numerous county offices, have piled up pluralities in excess of 5,000.

Never before in the history of the county has democracy waged such a battle and won such a victory. With all the candidates far in the lead, the progressive ticket, of which Theodore Roosevelt was at the head came second, much to the surprise of even some of the best pre-election authorities in the city, while the republican ticket made a poor showing as third in the race. The hopes of the republican party in Allen county have been blasted.

Late this afternoon there are still a number of precincts to be tabulated by the board, and until the complete returns have been officially counted, it is impossible to definitely judge the total results, but some of the figures, furnished at noon today, show the trend of popular political sentiment.

Unofficial Figures.
An unofficial count gives Wilson, 8,444; Taft, 3,467; and Roosevelt, 4,248, giving Wilson a plurality of more than 4,000. Samuel M. Ralston, democratic candidate for governor received 8,616, or more than the combined vote for Durbin, (rep.) and Beveridge, (pro.). Durbin's unofficial vote is 3,221, and Beveridge received 4,507 votes from the progressives of Allen county.

In the congressional race, Cyrus Cline's plurality will exceed 5,000. Returns from practically all of the county precincts give Cline 8,870; Lane, 3,597, and Litman, 3,768.

Kruse Leads His Ticket.

Dr. Edward H. Kruse, re-elected county coroner, headed his ticket in Allen county. His plurality will reach and is estimated at 5,359, and his total vote was 9,115, against 3,618 for Stults (rep.) and 3,758 for Rawles (prog.).

The county again piled up a tremendous vote for Senator S. B. Fleming. The joint senatorial vote is as follows: Fleming, 8,600; Egly, 3,563; Myers, 3,072. In every precinct a preference was shown for the progressive candidate in the race between the two wings of the republican party.

County Ticket Vote.

The county candidates on the democratic ticket all lead by big majorities. The unofficial vote for other county offices not mentioned above is as follows:

MESSAGES POUR IN

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 6.—Governor Woodrow Wilson, of New Jersey, president-elect of the United States today sent the following telegram to Gov. Marshall, of Indiana, vice president-elect:

"Warmest thanks for your generous telegram. Your part in the campaign was a source of great strength and stimulation. Now for the deep pleasure of close association in a great work of national service."

The Indiana governor received what is believed to be official information as to the result in California from the women's committee of the democratic state central committee of California. It read: "California is really in line. We are so proud we can hardly believe ourselves. Best wishes."

"A telegram came to Mrs. Marshall from Mrs. Thomas P. Gore as follows: 'Words fail to express my happiness. Accept my heartiest congratulations for yourself and our vice president-elect.'"

Governor-elect Sulzer, of New York, sent the following telegram to the governor: "Best wishes and sincere congratulations."

Joseph E. Davies, secretary of the democratic national committee sent the following message: "May I proffer my hearty congratulations for this splendid victory which has come to our party under the leadership of two great governors of two great commonwealths?"

Additional telegrams were received from the Traveling Men's Progressive Democratic club of Evansville; Sons of E. F. Shively, the Jefferson club of Fort Wayne; Mrs. John W. Keru, from Roanoke, Va., and scores of telegrams from personal friends.

Mr. Marshall's term as governor of Indiana expires next January and he will remain in office until then.

SAYS BUSINESS NEED NOT FEAR

President-Elect Wilson in Statement Makes His Purpose Clear.

VISITORS SWARM IN

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 6.—President-elect Woodrow Wilson sent replies today to the congratulatory telegrams of President Taft and Col. Roosevelt and issued a statement in which he declared that "there is absolutely nothing for the honest and enlightened business men of the country to fear" from the democratic administration.

To President Taft at Washington Mr. Wilson sent the following telegram: "I warmly appreciate your kind message and wish to express my sincere personal regards."

To Col. Roosevelt at Oyster Bay Mr. Wilson sent the following telegram: "My sincerest thanks for your kind message. Pray accept my cordial good wishes."

Can't Realize It's True.

"I can't realize that it's true," Woodrow Wilson, president-elect, thus greeted forenoon visitors today who swarmed to his house to offer congratulations. "I can't realize that it's true," repeated the governor.

"It hasn't quite dawned on me. I had been in an impersonal atmosphere for the last three months, reading about myself, reading that I was to be elected, and now I can hardly believe that it's true."

The governor arose at 10 o'clock. His breakfast was interrupted by a constant stream of congratulatory messages and the arrival of a huge cake sent from New York by Henry Morgenthau, chairman of the democratic national finance committee. On top of the cake was a horseshoe on which was inscribed: "Greetings to the twenty-seventh president."

There was also a miniature white house over which floated an American flag bearing a portrait of the governor. Mrs. Wilson and her daughters assisted the governor in receiving callers.

eight votes from Pennsylvania were apparently certain for Roosevelt at 8 o'clock. The race between Taft, Roosevelt and Wilson was almost an even affair until over 185,000 ballots had been counted. As precincts outside the large cities began to report, Roosevelt and Wilson forged ahead, and with something over half the vote counted, Roosevelt this morning had a majority of over 20,000 with many strongholds yet to deliver their count.

Minnesota Slips Back.

Minnesota, conceded to Wilson at midnight, slipped back to the doubtful column in the early morning hours when accessions to the Roosevelt strength reduced the proportion of the democratic lead in Iowa, given to Roosevelt in the midnight returns, showed a strong reversal of form and at 8 o'clock this morning returns from a portion of the state gave Wilson a slight lead.

The race in New Hampshire was so close as to make predictions of the result impossible. Taft and Wilson ran neck and neck throughout the night as the count progressed, Taft's lead varying from fourteen to 100, and with many districts yet to be counted, the electoral vote remained at issue between the democratic and republican candidates. The Roosevelt victory in Illinois showed signs of being greatly reduced, as "the down state" precincts came during the early morning hours. Reports from Chicago indicated that the big lead held by Colonel Roosevelt late last night, gained chiefly through his large majority in Chicago and Cook county, was being steadily reduced by the vote from democratic districts in the state at large, particularly in the southern counties.

Popular Vote Tremendous.

No efforts were made during the night to compute the popular vote for the presidential candidates. In the majority of states, however, the record vote was larger than at any previous presidential election, and the final returns on the actual number of ballots cast for the three candidates is expected to exceed all records. The defeat of President Taft, the division of the vote between Taft and Roosevelt, and the consequent division of republican organizations, resulted in complete democratic victories in many states.

In New York democrats carried the state ticket and the legislature. In Illinois the democratic candidate for governor had apparently carried the state. Democratic senators appeared certain as successors to republicans from Colorado, Delaware and Montana and several other states. The actual outcome of the three-cornered presidential fight and the large majority given the democratic ticket, were known early in the evening. The fact that many of Governor Wilson's victories were in large eastern states, where the vote was quickly tabulated and published, gave early returns upon which an accurate estimate could be made a few hours after the polls closed. Had Setbacks, Also.

A general increase in the socialist party vote was noted in the presidential campaign, was accompanied by setbacks to the local social-

CALIFORNIA.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 6.—Gov. Woodrow Wilson was leading Col. Roosevelt by 5,007 votes in California when counting ceased early today, not to be resumed until 8 o'clock. Figures were from 1,820 precincts out of 4,372. Indications are that California will gain two democratic congressmen.

FLORIDA.

Jacksonville, Fla., Nov. 6.—Indications are that a light vote was polled. Wilson will carry the state by about 25,000. Second place is still problematical.

GEORGIA.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 6.—Gov. Wilson's majority in this state may reach 35,000. The entire democratic congressional delegation was re-elected.

ILLINOIS.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 6.—Illinois remained in the progressive column on the vote for presidential electors by barely 19,000, with a third of the state yet to hear from at noon today. Gov. Wilson gained ten thousand on last night's tally of 26,677, which Col. Roosevelt was given by Chicago and the reports coming from down state show the president-elect slowly gaining.

Gov. Deneen apparently is relegated to third place in the contest for the governorship. Edward P. Deneen, the democratic candidate, apparently has his victory safe. Frank S. Funk, the progressive candidate, with two-thirds of the state yet to report, was four thousand ahead for second place. 1,300 precincts out of 2,788 in Illinois outside of Cook county gave Taft 61,069; Wilson, 126,099; Roosevelt, 115,121. The same precincts in 1908 gave Taft 204,148; Bryan, 140,173.

IOWA.

Des Moines, Iowa, Nov. 6.—Latest available returns indicate that the democrats won a presidential election in Iowa for the first time in the state's history.

Returns from a little more than a third of the precincts indicate a Wilson victory by about ten thousand votes. George W. Clark, republican governor, and nine out of the eleven republican congressmen, are considered to have won.

LOUISIANA.

New Orleans, La., Nov. 6.—Louisiana returns early today indicate the vote for Wilson will exceed the democratic majority cast for Bryan in 1908. Gov. Wilson's approximate vote in New Orleans is 20,000 out of a total of about 27,600. Roosevelt has run ahead of Taft.

"White House Bride" May Wed Again on the Same Day as First "White House Baby."

MRS. FRANCES FOLSOM CLEVELAND, WIDOW OF PRESIDENT GROVER CLEVELAND.

The "white house bride" and the mother of the first "white house baby" is to be married again. Maybe there'll be a double wedding, and mother and eldest daughter, Mrs. Frances Folsom Cleveland and Miss Esther Cleveland, will go away upon their honeymoon at the same time.

Grover Cleveland's widow, whose engagement to Prof. Thomas J. Preston is announced, has never craved the spotlight of publicity. Even in the days when she had youth, the fresh beauty that youth gives and the enviable position of "first lady of the land," Mrs. Cleveland preferred the nursery of her babies and the library of her husband to the drawing room and dancing floors of gilded and be-jeweled society.

Following the retirement of her husband from the presidency in 1887, Mrs. Cleveland and her family lived quietly in the college town of Princeton, N. J. Mrs. Cleveland, who numbers among her chief charms an exquisitely modulated voice and a mastery of the old-fashioned art of conversation, became a part of the university city's cultured society.

But she was never unmindful of her children's welfare, and was often called "the ideal American mother." A year after their father's death, Mrs. Cleveland took the children, Misses Esther (the white house baby) and Miss Marion, and her boys, Richard and Francis Grover, to Europe that they might be given a year in study of the French language and European customs.

Recently the engagement of Miss Esther to Randolph West, son of Dean West of Princeton university, was announced. She is 19; her sister Marion is 17. Richard is 15 and his brother is 9.

Mrs. Cleveland was educated at Wells college, at which her future husband is now professor of archaeology and art history. The bride-to-be has been a trustee of the college since 1887. It was while she was a student at Wells that President Cleveland wooed her. There is the Frances Cleveland library, Andrew Carnegie's $40,000 gift to the college, made in honor of Mrs. Cleveland.

RAINFALL AIDS EMIGRATION.

Lecturer Declares Europe Has Poor Crops in Wet Years.

New York, Nov. 6.—The large population of the United States is chiefly due, according to Dr. Edward Bruckner, of the Imperial and Royal Geographic society, who lectured at Columbia recently, to the nearly exact coincidence of periods of rainfall in Europe and drought in the United States.

According to Dr. Bruckner, in the years of comparative dryness there is little emigration from the countries of western Europe, because the crops there thrive under those conditions. In wet years, however, the crops are poor and the emigration to America is large, for the warmer climate of this country makes wet weather better for the crops. In the eastern part of Europe it works the other way, for there conditions are about the same as here and they have good crops at the same time crops are good in this country.

GAMBLER TERMS POKER REST.

Hoyle Fails to Help Supreme Court Decide Point.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 6.—When is "sittin' in" a pleasure and when is it "actual labor?"

This question, which Mr. Hoyle failed to decide when compiling his rules for the "greatest of indoor sports," poker, confronted the supreme court of the state recently and the body was unable to decide.

The question came up in the appeal of Felix Viskniski, of Carmi, White county, fined by a lower court for renting a building for gambling purposes. In his appeal he contended that poker might be a "social rest." The fine of $150 was confirmed.

One Occupation Gone.

Local candidates, at least, are doubtless willing to agree that nothing much finer in the way of law has been given the people of Indiana in recent years than the corrupt practice act which has been given its initial test in the campaign just ended. It has done much to lift the campaign to a higher plane, to free it from suspicion and to eliminate the political bum and the hanger-on who drifted from party to party and from candidate to candidate, reaping an uncertain harvest that ranged from cheap cigars up to financial contribution—all to be used legitimately, of course, in lining up the wavering voter or in winning patriots over from the opposition.

In Allen county, at least, and we presume the same is true in every other county in the state, party organizations, and party candidates have been relieved of no small burden in this direction. Forbidding under heavy penalty the expenditure of funds in many questionable directions during the campaign has resulted in an infinitely cleaner contest. There has been no beer parties, no wholesale "treating," no distribution of funds to pay for the services of party workers who were supposed to carry wards and precincts in capacious vest pockets or who were regarded as able to deliver this vote or that one. In many other ways the corrupt practice act in limiting the avenues of legitimate campaign expenditure has been a splendid thing. It has lowered the cost of making a campaign, but still better it has struck a telling blow at the political leech. His occupation is well-nigh gone in Indiana.

The fact that one wife-deserter has just been given a sentence of from one to three years in the Jeffersonville reformatory by the circuit court is expected to have a very salutary effect in similar cases which are becoming altogether too frequent. With the prospect of the penitentiary gates yawning before him, the next Fort Wayne man who contemplates deserting his wife and leaving her in helplessness and perhaps want will be likely to hesitate before he takes a step of this character.

Now that it is all over for another four years, we'll have an opportunity to allow political temperature to abate, forget campaign animosities and give attention to something besides politics. Every good citizen will cheerfully accept the result as the expression of the popular will and complacently turn his energies into other channels than frenzied partisanship. These recurrent attacks are sometimes severe, but your Uncle Samuel always recovers from them.

This is certainly a great day for the numerous individual who told you so.

MRS CLEVELAND'S SECOND MARRIAGE.

Frances Folsom Cleveland should excuse the American people if they are interested in the unofficial announcement that she is to be married to Professor Preston of Wells college.

She may not know how much she is loved, and how highly she is respected by the people of this nation.

In a sense she is the most intimately loved daughter of the Republic.

Her marriage to President Cleveland was a sentimental sensation to us all unrivaled in interest in white house affairs since the double wedding of Nellie Grant and the daughter of General Sherman.

There must have been much unhappiness and sorrow in her white house life. It covered a period when slander, calumny and gossip ran riot, and when the president was assailed in ways which we hope would be impossible now, and which cannot have failed to hurt the fine nature of the beautiful young bride, in spite of her exalted place.

But through it all she was never aught but a splendid figure of womanhood and wisdom. Since she retired from the white house she has made of her place a strictly private one. She has engaged in no crusades. She has avoided the limelight. But she has devoted herself to her family. But all the time she has been the same fine figure in the subconsciousness of the American people.

We shall all give her our blessings when she marries again. The status of the widow of an ex-president has its penalties, no doubt, as well as its rewards. One of these penalties, we may be excused for surmising, has been an imposed reluctance to break the quiet of dignified retirement by any change of marital condition. And yet, Mrs. Cleveland, as a fine, mature matron, may be sure that the American people will understand and sympathize with her desire for the larger life, and the greater happiness of a marriage of love.

She may not recognize the right of the people to have any feeling in so purely personal a matter, but she cannot help it. As a daughter of whom the republic is very fond and very proud, Frances Folsom Cleveland must not resent it if the people lay on her head its clumsy hand of benediction.

THE PRESS DISCUSSES CAMPAIGN DONATIONS.

"Smallest Expenditures." Buffalo Evening Times: "The campaign will pass into tradition for one reason, at least—namely, that it has been carried on by all of the parties with the smallest expenditure of money since the campaign of 1876."

Eight Years Ago. Boston Transcript: "Eight years ago there were no legal obstacles to restrain a corporation from contributing to the campaign fund of a presidential candidate."

"Party Loyalty." Washington Post: "If the Clapp committee has served no other purpose it has shown that there is such a thing as party loyalty and patriotism among big financiers."

"What They Expect to Get." Pittsburg Press: "Just who are financing the various candidacies now agitating the country, and what they expect to get for their money, ought not to be left in doubt."

"What is the Difference?" Montgomery Advertiser: "What is the moral difference between the money of the Lumber trust and the money of the Beef trust being used to elect William Lorimer United States senator from Illinois, and the money of the Harriman interests, the Morgan interests and the steel interests being used to elect Theodore Roosevelt president?"

"Smell of Fire." Troy Times: "Progressive papers now say that the smell of fire is not on their candidate's garments, because he promised no favors in exchange for money."

"Slush Funds." St. Louis Post-Dispatch: "The revelations of corrupting corporation contributions to campaign slush funds emphasize the necessity of popular pecuniary support for parties and candidates repudiating corporation contributions."

"Go Behind the Returns." Burlington (Vt.) Free Press: "Everybody recognizes that there are legitimate uses to which money can be put in a campaign, but when the sums expended go far beyond any sum that could conceivably be spent legitimately the people have a right to go behind the returns."

THE NEW ELECTORAL COLLEGE.

(New York World.)

In comparing the election results in the various states this year with those of 1908 it will be necessary to take into account the increase of 48 votes in the electoral college because of the growth of population shown by the census of 1910 and the admission to statehood of Arizona and New Mexico. In 1908 the total electoral vote was 483; this year it is 531. Instead of 242 votes, 268 are now necessary for the election of a president.

Of the 48 added votes Arizona and New Mexico each contributes three. New York has gained six electoral votes. Its total of 45 votes equals the sum of those of twelve other states, one-fourth of all the states in the union—Arizona, Delaware, Nevada, New Mexico and Wyoming, five states with three votes each; Idaho, Montana, New Hampshire, Utah and Vermont, five states with four votes each, and North Dakota and Oregon, with five votes each.

Pennsylvania comes next, with four more electoral votes than in 1908, making 38 this year. Then follow California and Oklahoma, with three more votes each, and Illinois, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Texas and Washington, with two more votes each. Alabama, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Louisiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Montana, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Utah and West Virginia have one more electoral vote each. The twelve states of the solid south have six more electoral votes than in 1908, while in the middle west Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri and Wisconsin show no change.

WAR AIRSHIP HAS KITCHEN.

German Craft Also Carries Machine Guns and Wireless.

Berlin, Nov. 6.—The German navy's first Zeppelin airship made a trial flight recently over Lake Constance, at Friedrichshafen.

The airship, with its 510 horse-power engines, is said to be capable of keeping in the air for two days and a half without a landing. Her equipment, in addition to wireless telegraphy, a searchlight and machine guns, includes a kitchen, sleeping bunks for the officers and hammocks for the crew.

After her trials the airship will take up her permanent station near Hamburg.

Sage Tea Will Darken the Hair

Restore Faded and Gray Hair to Natural Color—Dandruff Quickly Removed.

There is nothing new about the idea of using sage for restoring the color of the hair. Our grandmothers kept their hair dark, glossy and abundant by the use of a simple "Sage Tea." Whenever their hair fell out or took on a dull, faded or streaked appearance, they made a brew of Sage leaves and applied it to their hair with wonderfully beneficial effect.

Nowadays we don't have to resort to old-time, tiresome methods of gathering the herbs and making the tea. This is done by skillful chemists better than we could do it ourselves, and all we have to do is to call for the ready-made product, Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, containing sage in the proper strength, with the addition of sulphur, another old-time scalp remedy.

This preparation gives youthful color and beauty to the hair, and is one of the best remedies you can use for dandruff, dry, feverish, itching scalp, and falling hair. Get a fifty-cent bottle from your druggist today, and you will be surprised at the quick results. All druggists sell it, under guarantee that the money will be refunded if the remedy is not exactly as represented. Special agents, Meyer Bros. Co., Four Drug Stores.—Adv.

DOGS GIVE ALARM OF FIRE.

One Invalid Inmate of Canine Hospital Burned to Death.

New York, Nov. 6.—Aroused by the barking of dogs, Miss Yvonne Mingot, 16 years old, of 1235 West Fortieth street, opened the window of her home in the rear and discovered fire on the second floor of 127, next door, which is occupied by Dr. A. C. French, a veterinarian. She notified her father. An alarm brought forth several engine companies and a large crowd.

One dog was burned to death, while a Boston terrier was slightly scorched. The flames attracted such a large crowd that the reserves from the Tenderloin police station had to be called out.

WOMAN MISTAKES NOTICE.

Thinks Department of Justice Wants $300 for Service.

Washington, Nov. 6.—A woman seeking official action by the department of justice on a question in which she was interested became considerably confused by the franked envelope in which she received a communication from the department, according to a letter from her. The warning "penalty for private use $300" must have given her an unenviable impression. She wrote:

"I see from the envelope in which you answered my letter that you want $300 for private use. I can not supply that large amount, but might raise $150."

"Don't get careless." Ask for Haffner's Potato-Loaf Malt or Tip-Top Bread.

DELEGATION IS NOW COMPLETE

Indiana Contingent in New Congress is Wholly Democratic.

CRUMPACKER BEATEN

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 6.—Incompleteness, but rather definite returns today indicate that Indiana will be represented in the national house of representatives by thirteen democrats, Edgar Crumpacker, republican, in the Tenth district, having been defeated for reelection by John Peterson.

With the exception of Mr. Peterson and Charles F. Lieb, who obtained the democratic nomination from Congressman John W. Boehne declined to run again in the First district, those elected were in the last congress. The list follows:

SORRY TO LOSE RIGHT AT HOME

have been obtained it is highly probable that Hon. Cyrus Cline has carried the county by a small majority with Lane and Litman running about tie. The democratic national, state and county tickets will probably have small majorities.

THREE PRECINCTS MISSING.

With These Out Cline is Making a Great Showing in DeKalb.

(Special to The Sentinel.) Auburn, Ind., Nov. 6.—A tabulated statement of the vote this afternoon with three precincts missing give Hon. Cyrus Cline 2,653, Charles E. Lane, 1,085 and Louis Litman 681 in the congressional race. The full returns will not materially change the plurality given Mr. Cline.

Glen Van Auker, democratic candidate for joint senator from DeKalb and Lagrange counties, has been elected by a plurality of more than 600 votes. The vote on joint senator is normally 1,200 to 1,500 plurality.

Cline's plurality, unofficially given out here, is 1,170 and E. M. McKennon, candidate for representative on the democratic ticket has been elected by 383 votes.

TAFT CARRIES STEUBEN COUNTY.

Lane Ran 112 Votes Ahead of Cline and It is Close for Governor.

(Special to The Sentinel.) Angola, Ind., Nov. 6.—Taft carried Steuben county, but three precincts were still out and the exact figures could not be obtained this afternoon. Unofficial returns give Lane, for congress, a majority of 112 votes and it is estimated that Mr. Taft will carry the county by approximately the same figures.

This is Congressman Cline's home county and it has never given him a majority. The county ticket will probably be republican by a small margin, but the vote is very close in the gubernatorial race and the count will have to be finished to determine the result.

NOT ALL FIGURED UP.

Lagrange County Gave Cline Plurality in Litman's Home.

(Special to The Sentinel.) Lagrange, Ind., Nov. 6.—Louis Litman, candidate for congress on the progressive ticket, beat out Charles R. Lane in his home county, but ran second to Hon. Cyrus Cline. Mr. Cline's vote had not been tabulated late this afternoon, although all the returns had been received. It is certain that he has received between 1,300 and 1,400 votes. Unofficial figures give Litman 1,086 and Lane 920.

Until the official figures have been tabulated it will not be known how the county ticket stands, but it is safely democratic.

CLEAN SWEEP IN ADAMS COUNTY.

Entire Democratic County Ticket Elected by Good Margins.

(Special to The Sentinel.) Decatur, Ind., Nov. 6.—All the candidates on the democratic county ticket were elected by pluralities of more than 200.

The men chosen are: Judge, David E. Smith; prosecuting attorney, Raleigh C. Parrish; representative, A. P. Beatty; county auditor, Thomas H. Baltzell; county treasurer, William J. Archbold; county sheriff, Thomas J. Durkin; coroner, Dr. David D. Clark; surveyor, Phil L. Macklin; commissioner, Second district, Jim A. Hendricks; commissioner, Third district, Christian Eichler.

PLURALITIES IN WHITLEY.

Democrats Win Easily and Regular Republicans Ahead of Progressives.

(Special to The Sentinel.) Columbia City, Ind., Nov. 6.—Whitley county kept safely within the democratic lines by giving Hon. Cyrus Cline a plurality over Lane and Litman of 596.

The vote was: Cline, 2,253; Lane, 1,362; Litman, 1,082.

In addition to this the entire democratic county ticket was elected by pluralities ranging from 400 to 890. There was no progressive county ticket. In the presidential vote Wilson received 2,206, Taft 1,082 and Roosevelt 990.

Durbin also ran ahead of Beveridge in the county and Ralston's vote was a little short of that given Wilson. The count shows Ralston 2,159, Durbin 1,042 and Beveridge 988. Myers, for joint senator, received a plurality of 816.

Prosecuting Attorney—Hilgeman (dem.), 8,873; Douglass (rep.), 3,308; Porter (prog.), 3,725.

Representative—Moran, 8,576; Moellering, 8,509; Koenig, 8,819 (dem.); Moore, 3,405; Hyndman, 3,478; McCracken, 3,332 (rep.); Miller, 4,025; Crosby, 3,898; Somers, 3,665 (prog.).

Treasurer—Buetter (dem.), 8,817; German (rep.), 3,334; Boulton (prog.), 3,814.

Recorder—Hurah (dem.), 8,834; Glazier (rep.), 3,325; Young (prog.), 3,908.

Sheriff—Gladieux (dem.), 8,739; Erington (rep.), 3,296; Zelt (prog.), 4,055.

Surveyor—Gunter (dem.), 8,722; Sweet (rep.), 3,263; Grosvener (prog.), 3,935.

The Commissioners' Race. Black, Butt and Schrier, democrats, were elected county commissioners by large majorities. Black as a candidate for the First district has 8,351 against 3,489 for Ehle and 3,780 for Gunther, the republican and progressive candidates, respectively.

The vote for commissioner of the Second district was as follows: Butt, (dem.) 8,742; Hatch, (rep.) 3,307; Grayless, (prog.) 3,954. In the Third district race the vote was as follows: Schrier, (dem.) 8,745; Henry, (rep.) 3,343; Wilt, (prog.) 3,771.

Allen county democrats also gave their combined support to the candidacy of Judge Richard K. Erwin, of this city, as judge of the supreme court from the Fourth district. Judge Erwin's vote gives him a plurality of 3,471. The vote was as follows: Erwin, (dem.) 6,057; Monks, (rep.) 2,311; Bond, (prog.) 2,586.

Leaders Are Pleased.

Democratic leaders of Allen county are extremely pleased with the results of the election. They are not surprised, however, as everything pointed to a big democratic victory. The natural democratic sentiment in the county, combined with the efficient pre-election work of the organization, together with the split in the regular republican party, brought the big vote for all of the democratic candidates, and made the 1912 election one of history building nature.

Progressive leaders are jubilant over the fact that their ticket brought the party which they represent into second place. The men who waged the progressive campaign in the county expected to elect in a very few instances, but were not disappointed when returns showed that instead of landing a single office, the entire ticket came second.

LIKELY TO GO OVER 100,000

with about 100,000 votes is leading Taft by ten thousand.

Samuel M. Ralston, democratic nominee for governor, has been elected, early figures today showing him in the lead of Albert J. Beveridge, progressive, by nearly 65,000 votes, with W. T. Durbin, republican, running third.

The democrats have elected 12 of the thirteen representatives in congress. Congressman Edgar Crumpacker, republican in the Tenth district, has not conceded his defeat, but friends of John Peterson, the democratic opponent, assert he has been elected by a small plurality.

The Indiana general assembly will be democratic by about three-fourths of the membership in both houses.

The Socialist Vote.

Debs, the socialist candidate for president, polled 982 in Allen county, 688 in his home county of Vigo and ran highest of all the counties in Vanderburgh, where he received 2,115 votes. The total vote of the socialists in the state is not expected to exceed 25,000, whereas the leaders of the party predicted that 50,000 votes would be polled. It is believed many persons who had promised to vote the socialist ticket, voted for Roosevelt and Beveridge. Wayne was the champion progressive county of the state, 25 of its 64 precincts gave Roosevelt 1,759; Wilson, 1,225, and Taft, 704.

Where Taft Led.

Porter county continued to be the Taft leading county was the president, in 10 of the 21 precincts, received 1,027 votes to Roosevelt's 652 and Wilson's 759. In 1903 this county gave Taft 2,940 and Bryan 1,759. Returns on the legislature are too meager to make a safe estimate on the number of democrats elected, but it is known that Governor Ralston will have a big majority in both houses to support any measure he may recommend.

The split in the republican party also resulted in the democrats capturing the offices in a number of heretofore republican counties.

The great silent vote on which so much depended, went to the democrats. This spelled the downfall of the Roosevelt hopes and the great strength of the democratic national ticket carried through with it state tickets and state legislature in localities where up to election day democratic managers had only slight hope of success.

May Go to 128,000.

In 1,827 precincts outside of Marion county, Wilson received 159,398; Taft, 87,137; Roosevelt, 90,900; Debs, 1,381. Wilson's plurality over Roosevelt in these precincts is 68,498; over Taft, 72,261. In the same number of precincts Roosevelt received 3,763 more votes than Taft. When all the state is in Wilson's plurality, including Marion county, should be about 128,000.

One thousand, three hundred and sixty-eight precincts in Indiana, outside of Marion county, gave Ralston 122,651; Durbin, 63,362; Beveridge, 70,841. In these precincts Ralston's plurality over Durbin is 59,289; over Beveridge, 51,810. Ralston's average plurality is 35 to a precinct over Beveridge and if this

LAGRANGE FIGURES ARE IN.

Show Big Democratic Victory for a County Republican for Years.

(Special to The Sentinel.) Lagrange, Ind., Nov. 6.—A complete tabulation of the Lagrange county figures, finished late this afternoon, shows Cline 1,304, Litman 1,107, Lane 990. In the presidential race the figures are Wilson 1,233, Taft 758, Roosevelt 1,408.

For joint senator Ballou received 1,338, Nichols 967 and Babcock 1,033. For the first time in many years the county ticket is democratic and Lewis Price is elected joint representative from Lagrange and Steuben, receiving 1,435 votes against 1,935 for McClew.

should continue throughout the 3,927 precincts outside of Marion county, Ralston's plurality will be 114,286 in the entire state.

Added to the result in Marion county the reported vote for Ralston is 153,283; for Durbin, 76,448; for Beveridge, 90,389. Including Marion county, Ralston's plurality over Beveridge should be 121,915 in the state.

Indianapolis in Line.

Marion county, in which is located the city of Indianapolis, did her part at the election yesterday to swell the democratic plurality to unprecedented figures. It was a clean sweep for the democrats. Nothing was left for the republicans, not even a crumb. The progressives were equally as badly disappointed over their failure to elect a single man in the county, but they did have the satisfaction of knowing that they ran second. This they did with a comfortable margin. They relegated the republican party to the ranks of the "minor" political parties in Indiana, a feat which pleased them mightily. The progressive party will now be entitled to representation on all election boards and board of election commissioners.

Incomplete returns from the whole of Indiana show conclusively that the democratic candidate might have lost had he opposed a united republican party. Returns from 1,831 precincts—1,702 from the state at large and 149 from Marion county—give Roosevelt and Taft 199,839; the same precincts give Wilson 192,040. It will thus be seen that the two candidates who drew republican strength polled 17,190 votes more than the democratic leader.

ASK INJUNCTION AGAINST ACTION

Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Seeks to Prevent Street Opening.

FIGHT ON HARRISON

An injunction was asked in the superior court today by the Lake Erie and Michigan Southern Railway company against the city of Port Wayne and the members of the board from taking any action toward confirming a resolution for the opening of Harrison street from St. Mary's river to Third street.

Judge Walter Olds drew the complaint, which sets out that the company has its tracks along St. Mary's river, that its freight house is so located that it would be practically destroyed if the street is opened and that all its terminal facilities would be irreparably damaged by opening a street over or under its property.

The street opening was the first step looking to a bridge over St. Mary's river at Harrison street. The thoroughfare is not planned across the property and no crossing has ever been established at the point in question.

A short time ago Judge Olds asked the board to defer action on the matter so that he could investigate it and at the time it was suggested that civil proceedings would probably be started to prevent the opening of the street.

ONE COUNTY FOR ROOSEVELT.

Wayne (Richmond) Gave Plurality to Progressive Nominee.

Indianapolis, Nov. 6.—Many little peculiarities are beginning to appear in the Indiana returns. In Porter county the vote fell four hundred short of the number registered.

In Union county the democrats for the first time in fifty years have a plurality both on the national and state tickets.

Beveridge probably carried Delaware by 40 plurality over Ralston. Wilson carried it by about 200.

Wayne, the only county to give a bull moose majority, gave Roosevelt 622 plurality over Wilson and Beveridge 764 over Ralston.

Ohio, the smallest county in the state, gave Ralston 497, Durbin 452 and Beveridge 120.

In Vanderburgh the 2,215 socialist votes failed to rob Wilson to any appreciable extent. He got 7,305 votes, a plurality of 2,248 over Taft, who ran second. On the state ticket Durbin got 4,644 and Beveridge 2,802. Returns continue to show that Taft and Roosevelt combined would have beaten Wilson.

MUNSEY IS A WITNESS.

Man Accused of Harboring McNamara at Salt Lake City Testifies.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 6.—J. E. Munsey, Salt Lake City, Utah, accused of having harbored J. B. McNamara after the latter blew up the Los Angeles Times building was charged with having used violence in labor disputes in Utah at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial today.

The government produced letters from Munsey to J. J. McNamara, secretary of the Iron Workers' union, about a stockade ten feet high erected around a building under construction at Salt Lake City.

Enclosed newspaper clippings referred to the throwing of rocks over the stockade on the heads of non-union workmen. Concerning the watchman on the job, one Munsey letter purported to say: "We tried to get him but he won't venture out at night and he always packs a big gun."

Explosions later occurred in Salt Lake City.

LAGRANGE FIGURES ARE IN.

Show Big Democratic Victory for a County Republican for Years.

(Special to The Sentinel.) Lagrange, Ind., Nov. 6.—A complete tabulation of the Lagrange county figures, finished late this afternoon, shows Cline 1,304, Litman 1,107, Lane 990. In the presidential race the figures are Wilson 1,233, Taft 758, Roosevelt 1,408.

For joint senator Ballou received 1,338, Nichols 967 and Babcock 1,033. For the first time in many years the county ticket is democratic and Lewis Price is elected joint representative from Lagrange and Steuben, receiving 1,435 votes against 1,935 for McClew.

GLAD TO RIDE WITH WOODROW

It Wouldn't Have Been So Easy if Otherwise, Says Mr. Taft.

HE LOSES WITH SMILE

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 6.—Even in the moments when it became apparent that Gov. Wilson was going to sweep the country President Taft did not forget his philosophy and good humor. Here is a story of how the president looked at the situation just about that time, told by a friend today:

"We've got to find some comfort in this," the president is reported to have said. "I'll be very glad to ride down Pennsylvania avenue with Gov. Wilson. It wouldn't have been so easy if things had been different, but I would have taken the ride just the same."

The president was up early today. He took breakfast at the home of his brother and shortly before 10 o'clock started for the Cincinnati Country club to play golf. He had intended to play yesterday, but the weather interfered and with election returns out of the way today his game was arranged.

The president leaves Cincinnati for Washington late today. He expects to stay in the white house until the Christmas holidays. He may go to Panama about the middle of December, but has not made definite arrangements for such a trip.

Among friends of the president here today it was said that Chairman Hilges, of the republican national committee, would shortly return to the white house as Mr. Taft's secretary, a position he gave up to become national chairman. Carmi A. Thompson, of Ohio, the present secretary, will probably be given some other position in Washington.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE WINNING.

May Become Part of Organic Law of Four More States.

New York, Nov. 6.—Woman suffrage is likely to become part of the organic law of four more states as a result of the presidential election if present indications hold good when all the returns are in. Michigan, Kansas, Oregon and Arizona have voted favorably to such an amendment though in Oregon the vote is in doubt. Wisconsin defeated it decisively.

Suffragists exerted themselves to have the question submitted to the voters in as many states as possible. Substantial majorities for the amendment were returned in Arizona and Kansas. In Michigan indications are that the measure will be adopted by a small majority.

The constitutional amendment giving women full suffrage was carried in Kansas by a majority of 50,000, according to scattering returns received up to noon.

A comparison of ballots from a dozen precincts indicated that not more than two-thirds of the men took the trouble to mark the suffrage ballot.

The parents of both bride and groom were aware of the intention of the young people who preferred to slip away from their friends and have a quiet wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Archbold left at 5 o'clock for Danville, Ill., where they will live. Both bride and groom are well known young people of Lakeside.

SENATE MAY ALSO GO TO DEMOCRATS

Must Make Further Gain of Five to Control the Upper House.

Washington, Nov. 6.—With an overwhelming democratic majority in the house of representatives returns today indicate a probability of the success of a sufficient number of democratic senatorial candidates to give the democrats control of both branches of congress. There, however, still is sufficient uncertainty regarding the senate to make the situation indefinite.

The undecided character of the outlook concerning the senate is due to the fact that in order to outline definitely the prospect, it is necessary to have returns of the legislatures from several states which owing to the fact that the members of the legislatures are counted among minor officers are generally among the last to be received.

In the present light 44 of the 90 members of the senate may be assigned definitely to the democrats. These are the thirty hold-over democrats, the five already elected from Alabama, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi and Virginia and the nine to be chosen from Arkansas, Delaware, Georgia, North Carolina, New Jersey, Oklahoma and South Carolina, Tennessee and Texas, in all of which states democratic legislatures are supposed to have been elected.

To insure the 49 votes necessary to control, there must be a further gain of five senators, all of which must come from states now represented in the senate by republicans unless West Virginia be counted in the list.

The changes are believed to be strongly favorable to the democrats in Colorado (in which state two senators are to be chosen), and in Montana and more or less so in Kansas, Nebraska, Nevada and Oregon. Of these seven places still in doubt any five will give the forty-nine votes necessary to a majority. Should the entire seven prove to be democrats, the democrats would have a considerable margin in the upper house of congress. The latest returns for the house indicate the defeat of Cy Sulloway, the giant republican leader from New Hampshire, and Wm. B. McKinley, of the nineteenth Illinois district, who successfully led Mr. Taft's pre-convention campaign. Representative Bartholdt, of Missouri, is among the republicans who weathered the storm in Missouri.

The greatest interest attached to the result in "Uncle Joe" Cannon's district, which he has represented in the house thirty-eight years.

THE DEATHS

SCHMIDT.

Mrs. Catherine Schmidt, aged sixty-eight years, the widow of Frederick Schmidt, died at 5:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. William Klomp, 1314 Scott avenue, after an illness of seven months. Death was due to chronic liver trouble.

Mrs. Schmidt was born in Wuertemberg, Germany, and came to this country thirty-one years ago. She had resided here continuously since that time, and was an active worker in the congregation of St. John's Lutheran church.

Surviving she leaves the following children: Mrs. William Klomp, Mrs. William Schremer, Mrs. William Krohn, Mrs. H. Bohne, Mrs. Fred Heinemann, Mrs. James Kron, of Columbus, Ohio; Miss Anna Schmidt, Charles and William S. Schmidt, of Hagerstown, Ind. There are twelve grandchildren and one great grandchild. One sister resides in Germany.

WHAT JUDGE RALSTON SAYS.

Governor-Elect Regards Himself as Servant of the People.

Lebanon, Ind., Nov. 6.—Samuel L. Ralston, governor-elect, said last night: "To be chosen chief executive of a great state like Indiana is an honor that comes to but few men. While I rejoice at the result of the election, I am not by any means indifferent to the responsibilities I take upon myself in assuming the duties of the chief executive of my state."

"From the day of my inauguration until I cease to act as governor of Indiana I will regard myself as the servant of the people of Indiana and will endeavor to the full measure of my limited ability properly to serve them."

JOHN L. WILSON DIES.

Owner of Big Seattle Newspaper Expires in Washington.

Washington, Nov. 6.—John L. Wilson, owner of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, died early today at a hotel here of angina pectoris, after an illness of one hour. His body will be taken to his birth place, Crawfordsville, Ind., for burial tomorrow. He has been in the capital on business two days.

Mr. Wilson was a former United States senator. He had served two terms in the house and part of a third when he resigned to go to the senate to fill the unexpired term of John R. Allen. He was a brother of Henry Lane Wilson, ambassador to Mexico. Last night he watched election returns apparently in good health. Early this morning he was taken suddenly ill and died within an hour.

The pleasure of a game of bridge in the midst of exceedingly attractive appointments of flowers and autumn foliage, yellow shaded candles on the supper tables and daintily dressed little maidens, Katherine Rauch and Katherine Barnes, serving as pages at the door, were things that made Mrs. J. D. Rauch's afternoon party today one to be recalled with much delight. There were twenty-five guests. Mrs. E. A. Barnes lent assistance in keeping tallies of the players. Mrs. Robert Green and Mrs. Albert Smyser, both of Logansport, were visiting guests. The rooms were a cheerful contrast to the day with their decoration of autumn foliage and chrysanthemums. Yellow and white were the colors of one room, rose and white of another and bitter-sweet berries and oak foliage were bright spots of cheerfulness in other rooms. Little baskets of nuts and other parts of the menu for the supper expressed the coloring of the decorations.

A CLEVER ACTRESS IN GOOD PLAY.

"The Price," Showing at the Majestic, is Well Worth Seeing.

An actress of decided charm and many points of excellence in her work is Miss Edna Marshall, who plays the leading role in "The Price" at the Majestic. Large audiences were more than pleased at yesterday's performance and both the performers and the play received many complimentary remarks and much applause. Miss Marshall is gifted and accomplished in her work as well as talented, and she adds to the interest of the drama itself by her excellent work throughout. There are a number of parts especially well taken, notably that of the character woman.

The play is a powerful one and its story one that holds attention to an intense degree.

"GLORIFIED DERBY" IS THIS PARIS HAT, COSTUME, TOO, IS NOVEL.

This is one of the very latest ways of wearing the new velvet coats with cloth or satin skirts. The jacket is not very long, neither does it button together in front. There are two buttons, one on each side of the short velvet coat, and a cord fastens across.

The skirt is plain, rather long and very narrow, and the over drapery is caught up with a cord. The skirt comes up high under the bust and under it is worn a soft French embroidered blouse. The model of this gown is of light brown wool velvet with a black velvet jacket. By the way, all shades of brown will be very popular this season and will be more worn in Paris than taupe, which seems to have first call over here.

Please note the hat worn with this dress. It is a glorified derby, first worn by the men, and it is put on from the back of the head, leaving the forehead to show.

A BUSINESS IN ITSELF.

Mrs. Marshment's Original Recipes.

As Demonstrated at The Sentinel Free Cooking School.

PASTRY CRUST—Three cups of sifted flour, one level teaspoonful salt, one cup of lard, add enough cold water to bind. (About two-thirds of a cup). Mix with a knife. This will make two large pies or three small ones.

SPONGE CAKE—Four eggs, beaten separately, one scant cup of sugar, three tablespoonsful of cold water, one scant cup of flour, one and one-half tablespoonsful of cornstarch, a pinch of salt, one teaspoonful lemon extract, one and one-half level teaspoonsful baking powder. Beat egg yolks till light and creamy, add sugar and beat again, then add the cold water and extract, sift flour, cornstarch and baking powder, add to sugar and eggs then fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in a moderate oven forty-five minutes.

SWEET POTATOES IN SYRUP—Boil smooth, even-sized sweet potatoes about thirty minutes; peel under cold water to prevent discoloration; smear with butter, roll in sugar and put in a bag, with more butter, sugar and lemon juice. Place in lower shelf of oven about twenty minutes.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

"THE GREAT DIVIDE."

The contrasting nature of man and woman leavened by the mysterious laws of human attraction will find exemplification upon the Majestic theater's ample stage Thursday, Friday and Saturday with the usual matinee, when Margaret Anglin and Henry Miller's famed play, "The Great Divide," will be offered there the first time at popular prices. The presentation is by the Phillips-Shaw company, who will bring with them the original Daily Theater New York production. The story is well known among theater-goers, therefore it is unnecessary to state that a rare treat is in store for those who will witness its rapid and absorbing unfoldings.

HIS NECK BROKEN AND LEADS MARCH

Injured Athlete Guest of Honor at Society Dance.

HISTORY OF THE CASE

CHRONOLOGICAL HISTORY OF YOUNG MILLER'S CASE.

July 3, 1911—Dives from rocks and breaks his neck.

July 8—Receives consciousness in hospital. Believes that if he lives more than seven days he will recover. His brother broke his neck in the same way and died in a week.

July 12—Improvement so marked the physicians doubt their diagnosis. X-rays show broken cervical vertebrae.

Sept. 9—Able to move his fingers and arms.

Nov. 14—Taken to his mother's home.

June 23, 1912—Able to move his feet and stand up unassisted.

Nov. 2—Leads grand march at dance given in his honor.

New York, Nov. 6.—Sixteen months ago Waldorf Miller, the young athlete who broke his neck in diving from the rocks at Hudson park, New Rochelle, lay unconscious in the New Rochelle hospital. The doctors didn't expect him to live a week. The other night he led the grand march at a dance given in his honor by the Troop Social club of New Rochelle (walking the length of the hall with a friend supporting him on each side).

It was a remarkable exhibition of fortitude and fulfilled the prophecy Miller made when he was injured, that if he could live longer than a week he would recover. The plucky youth was complimented last night upon his courage and was quite the lion of the evening. It was one of the largest dances ever given in New Rochelle, more than a thousand men and women attending.

The day young Miller dived into Echo bay, struck his head on the rocks and was taken from the water with a broken neck, he was one of the champion swimmers of New Rochelle. Just about three years before his brother Frederick had dived from the same spot and was fatally injured in the same manner. He lingered a week in the hospital before dying. It was a tragedy that Waldorf always had before his eyes whenever he went swimming, but it did not deter him from aquatic feats.

From the moment he regained consciousness in the hospital, Waldorf was bent on living. He announced cheerfully that if he lived longer than his brother had he would get well. The surgeons smiled, but agreed among themselves that the youth would never live to see the seventh day. But he improved rapidly. By September he was able to move his arms and fingers. Sensation gradually returned and he was able to move his legs. The doctors were puzzled. By all the rules of medical science he should have been a hopeless paralytic. The day he was taken home he said:

"I'll fool them yet. I'm going to get better right along now, and some day I'll be able to walk on crutches."

There is every indication that he will make good his boast. For several hours he watched his young friends dancing and there was a wistful, longing light in his eyes. But there was not a young man or woman there who didn't have time to shake hands with the plucky, determined youth.

VELVET WRAPS.

Velvet and velveteen are to be used again this autumn and winter in the composition of comfortable and handsome outer wraps. These have many points of usefulness, which fully accounted for their great popularity last year and in the spring. They are, however, only suitable for wearing over short skirts, which do not need holding up, and even so they are apt to be in the way on muddy days, for it is very difficult to cleanse mud stains from velvet.

On the other hand, they frequently save the trouble of changing the dress, since they lend a sufficiently afternoon appearance to the figure even when they are worn over comparatively plain costumes. They also form an admirable background for furs, with a glimpse of lace at the throat.

A smart model has a turned back collar of sailor shape not extended in long revers to the waist, which forms a pleasant change. On the waist line it is fastened by a motif of folded black velvet and braid, and to this fastening it is drawn slightly up in fullness from the right to the left side. This gives it a very up to date air for anybody who has the patience to be eternally brushing.

LONG HAT PINS.

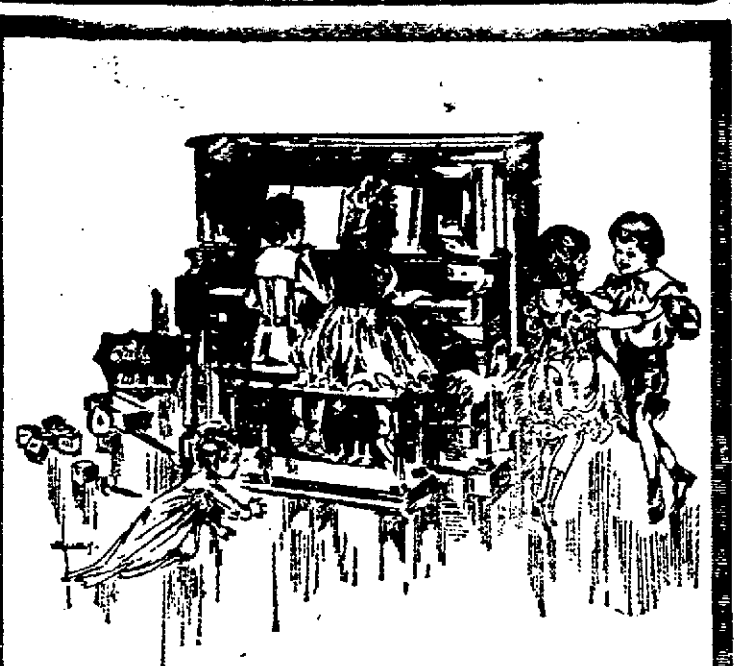

Woman's deadliest weapon is—no, not her tongue, though there are cynical men folks who might say so—but her long hat pin, which, since fashion has reduced the enormous size of hat crown sticks through her headgear some three or four inches, making a dangerous sharp spike, of which the wearer seems complacently unaware.

There really isn't any excuse for going about thus aping the fretful porcupine. It is just selfishness and thoughtlessness. The hat pin in your hat does not menace your own eyes, so you really do not believe that it menaces the eyes of other people. But let you, madame, get into a crowded car or a packed elevator and stand near to a woman a little shorter than yourself whose hat crown bristles steel points, and maybe you will begin to see how dangerous the protruding hat pin point really is.

You can't get short hat pins for every hat, you object. Well, you can have your long ones cut off and you don't need to go to the jeweller's, either. The locksmith or the tinsmith or the plumber will do it for you, and sharpen the ends.

How to Duplicate Party Invitations in Your Own Handwriting, Using the Pen But Once.

There are very few people who have not at one time or another been required to send out club notices or form letters to fifteen or twenty people and exhausted both their strength and patience in writing all the letters required. Usually the number of letters to be sent would not seem to warrant the expense of obtaining a hectograph or duplicator. And such an expense is not warranted. A very serviceable hectograph can be made that will last throughout a club or society season and costs little or nothing.

One ounce of ordinary gelatine should be soaked over night. The water is poured off in the morning. Six and a half ounces of glycerine are then heated in a water bath to a temperature of 200 degrees and the gelatine added.

This gives a clear glycerine solution of gelatine. The mass should be poured into a shallow tray or pan until it is nearly level with the edge of the receptacle. A cover should then be placed over it—but not so it will touch the top of the composition—and the mass allowed to set six hours. It will then be ready for use.

Make copy for your letters with an aniline ink—a good one can be made with methyl violet two parts, alcohol two parts, sugar one part, glycerine four parts and water 24 parts. The violet should be dissolved in the alcohol and mixed with the glycerine, and the sugar should be dissolved in the water and then the two solutions mixed.

Write the copy clearly with this ink. Dampen the surface of your gelatine mass with a wet sponge and lay the copy, face down, being careful to exclude the air bubbles from the surface. Leave it a minute and then raise one corner and pull it off. The inscription on the paper will remain on the surface of the gelatine and as many as fifty copies can be made from it by laying plain paper over it and smoothing it down.

When through wipe off the ink from the surface of the gelatine with a wet sponge and it can be used for another letter. If the gelatine becomes hard heat it and pour it over again.

SHAWLS MADE OF HAIR.

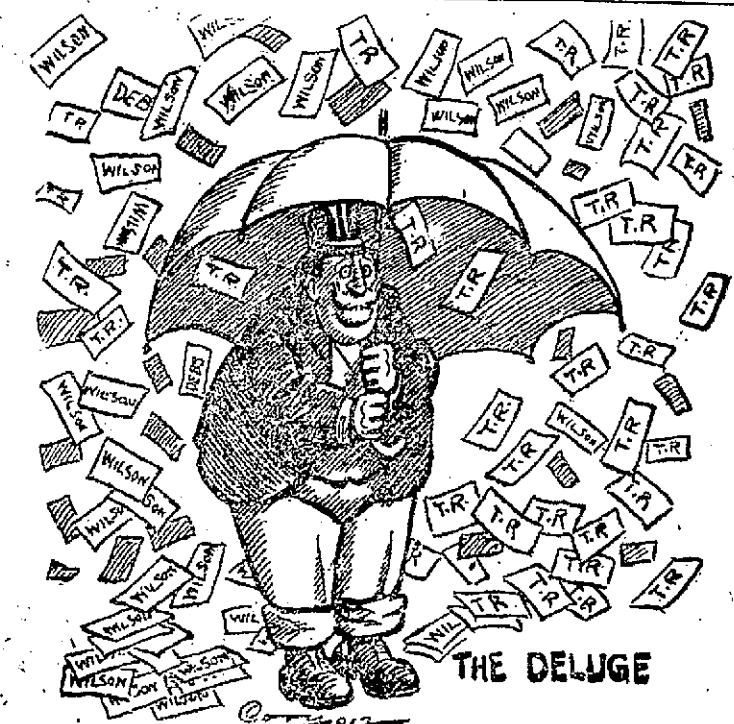

The dear ambition of the woman of half a century ago was to possess a real Cashmere shawl.

It was in France that the hair of the Cashmere goat was first esteemed for the making of shawls, the silky substance of which allied to their exquisite drapery possibilities was their great fascination.

White hair of the common Italian goat is imported for carpet manufacture. There is also imported white hair of the Siberian goat, the shorter lengths of which are used in carpet making and the longer for various purposes. The most costly of all the white animal hairs imported is that of the camel. The camel is commonly of a dirty brown in color, but parts of its body may be white, as may be streaks in its mane, called veins. The camel's hair is of superior strength, and its fine white hair of sufficient length is used as a substitute for natural white human hair.

The long white hair of the Syrian goat is as fine as human hair, in place of which it is used for some special purposes, principally for the making of theatrical wigs and beards.

WIFE MADE INSANE BY HUSBAND'S ACT

Return of the Saloon to Ashley Said to Be Cause of Mental Break.

Ashley, Ind., Nov. 6.—The mind of Mrs. Edward Ling, of this township, has become unbalanced and friends are compelled to keep constant watch over her to prevent her from committing suicide. The cause is said to be the return to temperate habits on the part of her husband, directly growing out of the return of the saloon to Ashley.

A few days ago Mr. and Mrs. Ling came to town from their country home to make some purchases. They had been in town but a short time when Ling left her and repaired to the Geddies saloon. Later in the day Mrs. Ling, with an armful of groceries, etc., started for their buggy and while passing the saloon the husband came out intoxicated and with a wild swoop of his arm scattered the armful of purchases broadcast over the street.

Mrs. Ling stood dumfounded for a moment and then uttered a hysterical cry, "I have seen enough; I want to see no more," and friends who came to her aid discovered that her mind was unbalanced, so greatly so that she talks of ending her own life. Mr. and Mrs. Ling have a large family of children and neighbors are caring for some of them.

Five Months from Now England's Poor Will No Longer Need "Charity"—England's Babies Will Be Born Decently.

POSTERS LIKE THIS HAVE BEEN PLACED EVERYWHERE, SHOWING WORKINGMEN AND WOMEN WHAT THE PLAN WILL MEAN TO THEM, ESPECIALLY TO MOTHERS.

(By William G. Shepherd.)

London, Nov. 6.—Amid torrents of ridicule, with the physicians of London fighting free medical service, with employers protesting and with the aristocrats insisting that their charities will care for the poor and that insurance laws are foolish, Lloyd George has marched on steadily with his law for insuring the working people of England against illness and mishap.

For the next five months you'll probably see in the American newspapers here and there how Lloyd George's insurance plan is failing or is being criticized by every Englishman, rich or poor. Never mind these stories!

Lloyd George has a terrific five months ahead of him because, with the working people, just now it is a case of all going out and nothing coming in.

The payment of benefits will not begin until January 13, 1913.

Eleven million working people in England are paying eight cents per week, if they are men, or six cents a week if they are women, toward the insurance fund. Thoughtlessly, many of them complain because none of them has so far benefited by it.

The benefits are:

Seven dollars and a half at the birth of every child.

Two dollars and a half per week for men during twenty-six weeks of illness.

One dollar and eighty-five cents for women during twenty-six weeks of illness.

One dollar and twenty-five cents a week for both men and women when they are ill longer than twenty-six weeks.

Free doctoring and free medicine for life.

Free special treatment for consumption.

Here's the way John Hobbs, of London, bricklayer, for instance, does his part of the insurance business:

First he goes to the postoffice nearest his home and gets an insurance book. It is something like a trading stamp book, in appearance, with spaces for stamps. It is against the law for any employer to hire him unless he presents this book.

"Got a job for me?" asks Mr. Hobbs. "Yes," answers the contractor—that is if it is Mr. Hobbs' lucky day. "Where's your book?"

Mr. Hobbs hands his book to his new boss and goes to work.

The new boss places in one of the spaces in the book a stamp costing 14 cents, which he has bought at the postoffice. For this stamp he has paid six cents of his own money and eight cents which he will deduct from the wages of Mr. Hobbs at the end of the week.

If Mr. Hobbs is a thrifty individual, with forethought, he joins a benefit society which has been approved by the government. The doctor for this society looks him over, and if he finds that he is in good physical condition he admits him to the society without cost.

If he isn't thoughtful and doesn't join a society, he remains under the postoffice insurance.

As a member of a society he can draw all of the benefits mentioned above, including the birth insurance for his wife, but under the postoffice insurance, when he is taken ill, he sends his book to the postoffice and is entitled to eighteen cents for every fourteen-cent stamp in the book. For each one of these stamps he has paid eight cents, his employer has paid six cents and the government has paid four. He is also entitled to free medicine and free attendance by a physician, thought he must be contented with what he received for his stamps, as no weekly payments are made to him.

And here one great evil appears that even the brains of Lloyd George has not been able to overcome. Suppose John Hobbs has been refused admittance to an approved benefit society on account of his poor state of health. Then John, the man who needed help more than his healthy brothers, must remain under the postoffice insurance and will receive less benefit than they do, even though he is forced to pay as much money as they do, weekly, for his insurance. There is no choice for any person who receives less than fifteen dollars a week as to whether or not he shall take advantage of the insurance—it is compulsory.

Mrs. Jones, if she has a hired girl, has to lick stamps once a week. So does the lawyer for his office boy, so does the meat man and the grocer. Even the men who carry the sandwich signs on the streets must have their cards.

Just now the working people of England are pouring a tide of $720,000 a week into the insurance fund. Five months from now, when the payment of benefits begins, the laborers will have paid twelve millions into the fund, employers will have paid in nine millions and the government will have paid in six millions, making an insurance fund of twenty-seven million dollars.

When the benefits begin, the beloved and long continued charity of England's aristocracy will only be in the way and uselessly muzzing up the scenery.

For one thing, babies will be born decently, for one million mothers in England will be given the maternity benefit yearly and will receive free treatment by physicians.

A Serious Joke on The Rabbit

The U. S. Gov't has been experimenting to discover the poisonous quality of Caffeine (found in coffee).

57 healthy rabbits were given an average dose of 5 1-10 grains.

—They all died.

See Gov't Bulletin No. 148, Bureau of Chemistry.

A cup of coffee contains over 2½ grains of Caffeine; enough in two cups to kill a rabbit.

Of course this joke was on the rabbits.

A goodly number of humorous Americans play the same joke on themselves and keep it up until some fixed form of disease sets in, as a result of the daily dose of Caffeine, in quantity enough to kill a rabbit, but only enough to

Cripple a Man

Not at one blow but by little blows repeated daily.

Of course some systems are strong enough to stand all kinds of abuse, but when a man or woman observes a growing nervousness, or heart trouble, stomach, bowel or eye disturbances, it is time to quit the daily dose of coffee and see if Nature will begin to heal.

It is easy to shift from coffee to Postum. The food beverage has the deep, seal-brown color which turns to a golden-brown when cream is added. The flavour has the crisp tang so winning to the palate and the cup is made instant by one struck spoonful of the powder, stirred in a cup of hot water, and there you are. The change from coffee to Postum works wonders.

INSTANT POSTUM

SALLEE KEPT ON THE WATER CART

Great Lefthander Earned a Bonus Paid Him by the Cardinals.

A WILLING WORKER

St. Louis, Nov. 6.—Harry Sallee, otherwise Slim, has been paid a bonus of $1,000 for keeping in condition during the season of 1919. This was in keeping with an agreement reached by Manager Bresnahan and the slim one prior to the start of spring training.

When Sallee signed his contract this year he was to get a bonus of $1,000 if he kept in condition throughout the season. Two successive years the southpaw had to be suspended, but no one placed more confidence in the athlete than Roger himself.

The Cardinals cracked this past year, but Sallee didn't. Even when the going was the roughest, when the pitching staff crumbled and everything else was in a topsy-turvy state, Sallee was in condition every day. He did not shirk his work, lived up to every word of his extra clause and it was not his fault that the team fell 93 points below the 1911 percentage.

There was a time during the middle part of the season, just when the Cards promised to get into the fifth place, and not so far removed from the first division when the pitching staff was wrecked. Harmon had a sore whip, Steele was ailing and all the others, Willis, Woodburn and Dale, were unfit for duty.

Then Sallee hopped in. It was up to him to save the club. In one stretch of fifteen games, mostly against the Pirates and Cubs, Harry pitched six. Whenever Roger called for him he was ready, and often he asked to work, knowing the condition of his mates.

Finally the end came. Sallee asked Bresnahan if he thought the bonus was coming to him for his conduct. The answer from the dook was yes, but of course it was up to Mrs. Britton to O. K. it.

"No one worked harder than Mr. Sallee," said Mrs. Britton. "I promised to give him a $1,000 bonus, and he got it."

WOULD BUY CLUB FOR EVANSVILLE

Harry Stahlhefer Offers to Buy the Franchise from Terre Haute.

WAGNER IS WAITING

Terre Haute, Ind., Nov. 6.—Harry Stahlhefer, former president of the Evansville baseball club, was in Terre Haute yesterday for a conference with the management of the local Central league club in regard to the purchase of the franchise. Evansville is determined to have league ball in 1921 and the men behind the plan are ready to go the limit to achieve this end.

Stahlhefer made an out and out proposition for the Terre Haute franchise. The offer, however, has not been accepted, although the management is considering the bid. The owner of the Tots lost a bunch of money last season and he can't see why he should again "hold the bag." With the Evansville offer he is given a chance to get out from under the burden and not take a big risk in breaking even next season. But the local owner wants Terre Haute to be on the baseball map and he will consider the situation carefully before taking a decisive step.

The Evansville agent said to the writer: "Evansville is going to have league ball next season if it is possible, and we think it is a representation of the business men who are willing to go the limit to secure a Central league franchise and I have made an offer for the Terre Haute property. Of course, we would like to see Terre Haute in the league, but if we can't secure admission any other way than by the purchase route we are ready to move along that line."

"We think Evansville to be the best paying city in the league, bar none, and the league would be strengthened should it accept Evansville. However, if the moguls decide on a six-club circuit we will do our best to purchase a berth."

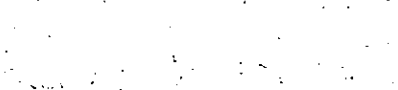

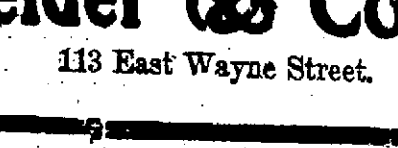

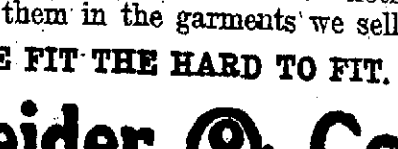

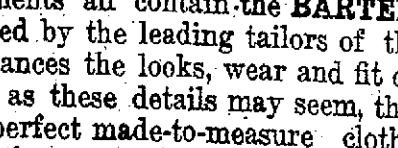

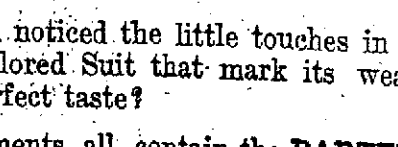

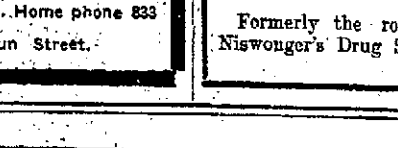

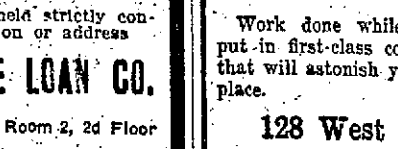

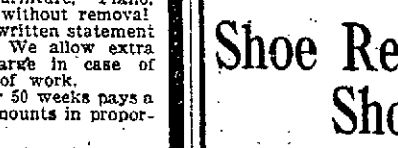

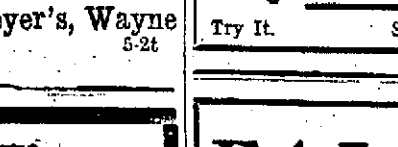

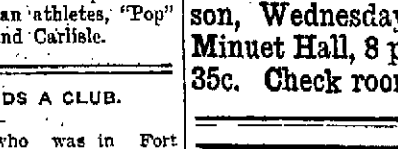

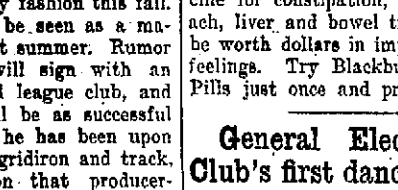

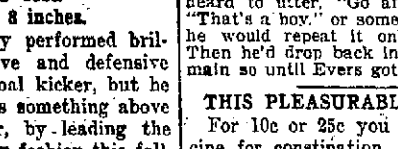

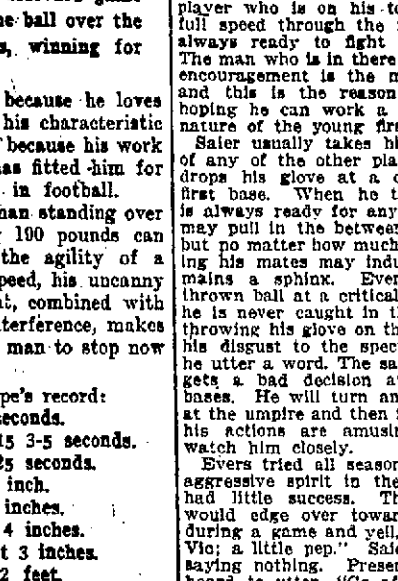

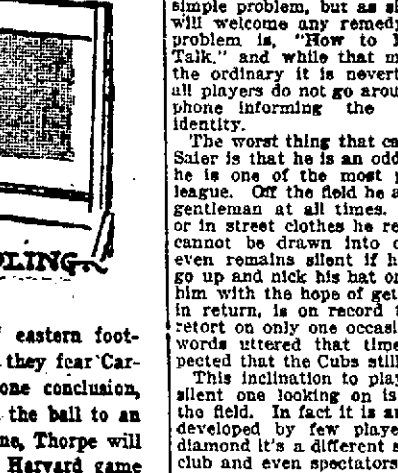

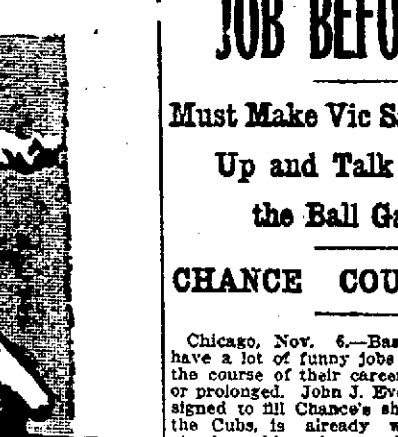

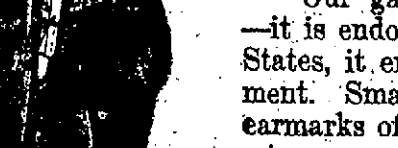

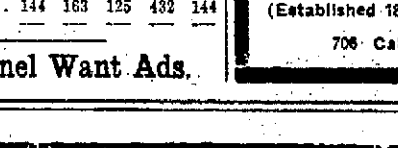

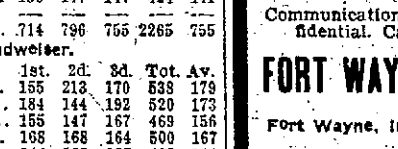

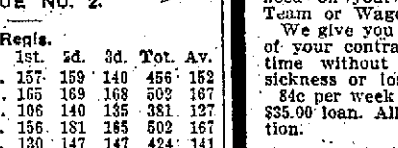

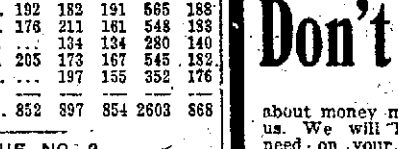

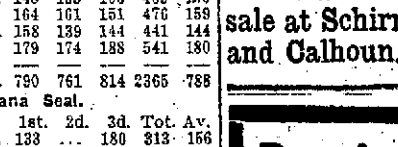

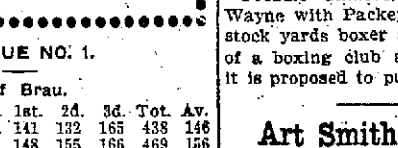

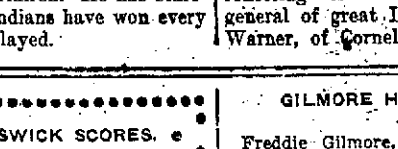

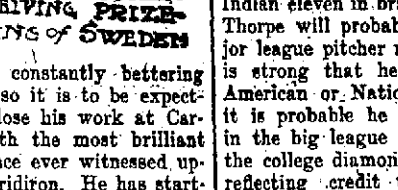

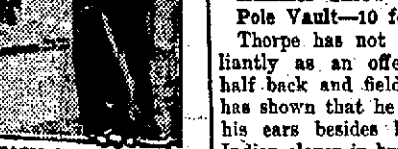

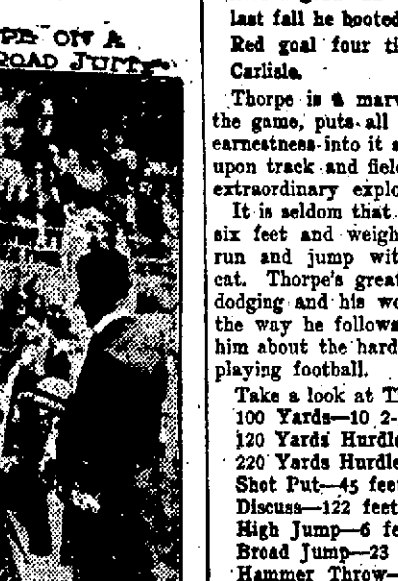

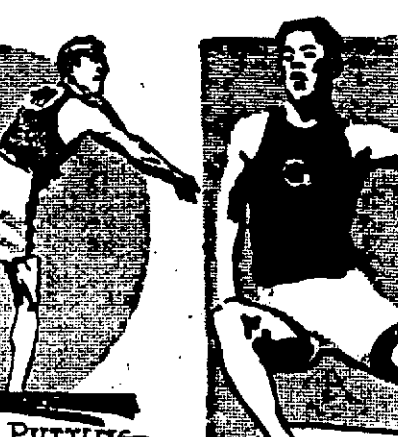

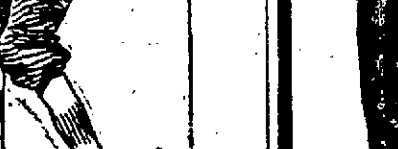

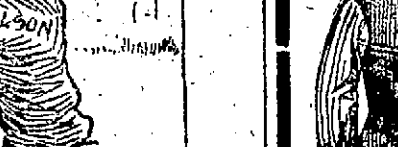

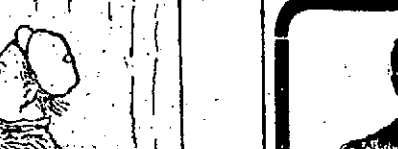

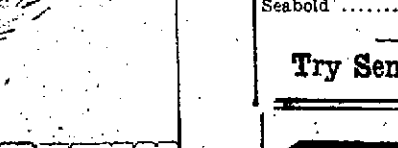

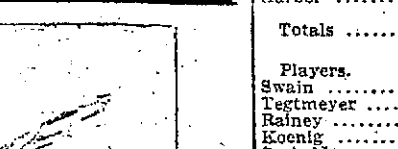

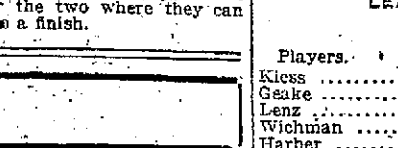

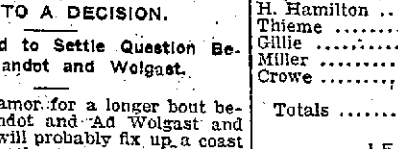

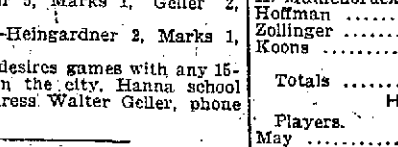

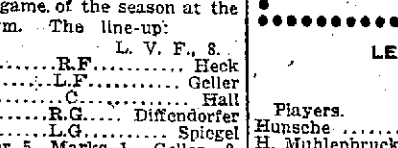

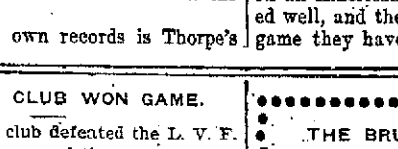

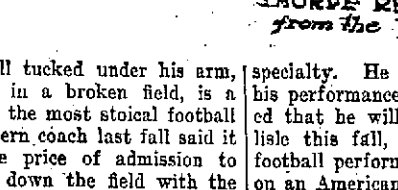

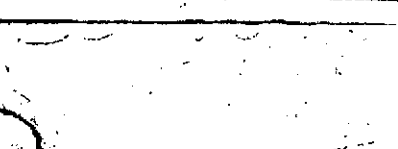

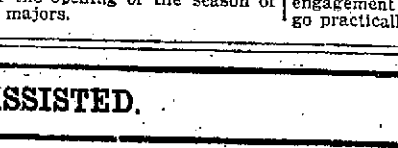

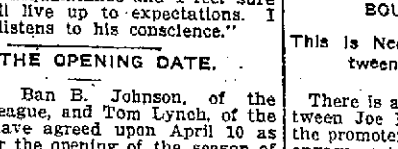

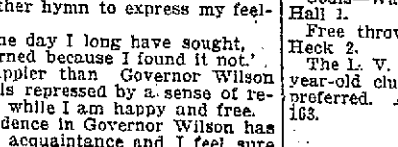

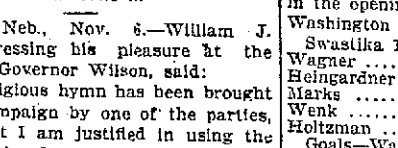

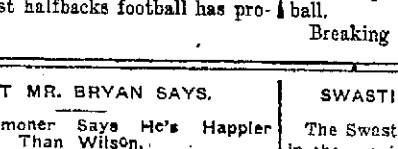

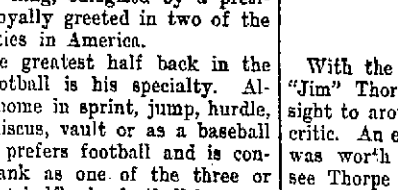

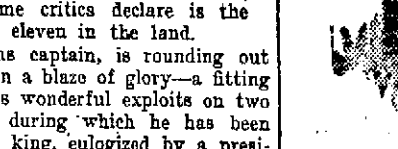

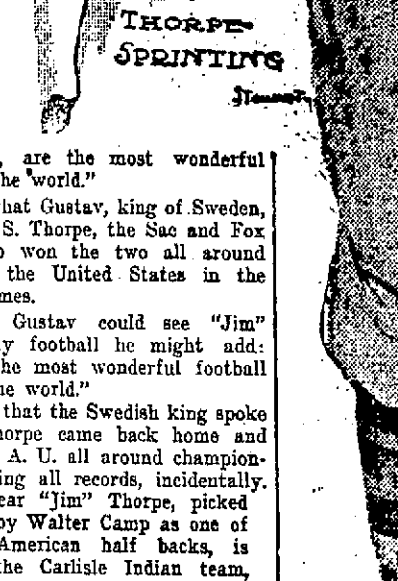

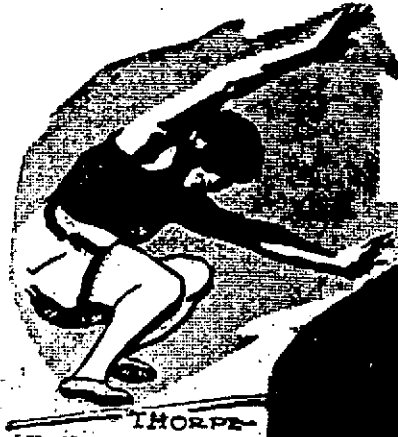

The Terre Haute management will take no definite action relative to the franchise proposition until after the Central league session to be held at Milwaukee Nov. 11, at which the final arrangements for the 1921 season are to be consummated. The Evansville offer, however, is a datterer one and will receive more than passing consideration.

There is room to believe that the Central will take on two additional clubs and in that way secure Evansville without forcing the down-state city to purchase a franchise. In that case Terre Haute will probably stay with the ship, but should the league bosses decide, however, that a six-club circuit is the candy-well, look out for a soft place to light.

ONE OF THE WORLD'S GREATEST ATHLETES IS GREAT FOOTBALL PLAYER, AND MAY BE BIG LEAGUE BASEBALL STAR NEXT YEAR.

EVERS HAS HARD JOB BEFORE HIM

Must Make Vic Saier Ginger Up and Talk During the Ball Games.

CHANCE COULD NOT

Chicago, Nov. 6.—Baseball managers have a lot of funny jobs to dispose of in the course of their careers, be they brief or protracted. One of the most prominent in the league. Off the field he acts the part of a gentleman at all times. But in uniform or in street clothes he refuses to talk, he cannot be drawn into conversation and even remains silent if his fellow players go up and nick his hat or otherwise abuse him with the hope of getting a few words in return. It is on record that Saier had a retort on only one occasion and the three words uttered that time were so unexpected that the Cubs still talk of them.

This inclination to a silent story. Every ball club and even spectators love the type of player who is on his toes, jabbering at full speed through the nine innings and always ready to start a dispute around. The man who is in there offering words of encouragement is the man most wanted and this is the reason Evers has for having a hard job to do in the nature of the young first sacker.

Saier usually takes his position ahead of any of the other players. He always drops his glove at a certain point near first base. When he takes his position is always ready for anything the players may pull in the between inning practice, but no matter how much talking and yelling his mates may indulge in, Saier remains a sphinx. Even if he drops a thrown ball at a critical point of a game he is never seen in the popular act of throwing his glove on the ground to show his disgust to the spectators. Nor does he utter a word. The same holds when he gets a bad decision that or on the bases. He will turn and look pleadingly at the umpire and then forget it. At times his actions are amusing to those who watch him closely.

Evers tried all season to wake up the aggressive spirit in the young star, but had little success. The second sacker would edge over toward the youngster during a game and yell, "Come on there, Vic; a little pep." Saier would reply by saying nothing. Presently he would be heard to utter, "Go after 'em now," or "That's a how, or something as mild, but he would repeat it only once or twice. Then he'd drop back into silence and remain so until Evers got busy again.

BAD YEAR FOR MANAGERS IN THE NATIONAL LEAGUE.

"It looks like a bad year for managers," said Frank Chance, when recently asked for an opinion regarding the ousting of Roger Bresnahan from the leadership of the St. Louis club.

The deposed Chicago chieftain spoke truly. When the long sounds for the 1919 getaway it is likely that five of the National league managers who led their charges into the southland last spring will be among the missing and there is a possibility of a sixth change.

Here's a list of leaders, each of whom predicted a pennant or at least a first division berth for his particular squad shortly before the call came for 1919: McGraw, New York; Clarke, Pittsburgh; Chance, Chicago; O'Day, Cincinnati; Doolin, Philadelphia; Bresnahan, St. Louis; Dahlen, Brooklyn; Kling, Boston.

Of this number, two already "have got theirs." President Murphy, of the Cubs, announced the "retirement" of Chance shortly before the close of the 1919 race. A few days after the announcement from Boston, saying that Kling had voluntarily quit. A few days ago came the bolt from the blue at St. Louis and Roger Bresnahan and his $10,000 contract, with its accompanying 10 per cent. of the net earnings, were roughly separated.

The other pilots who feel themselves slipping are Hank O'Day, at Cincinnati, and Bad Bill Dahlen at Brooklyn. The first named probably will be the first to have the hardware attached to his personage. Following the announcement of the appointment of Evers as Cub boss, Gary Herrmann, owner of the Red outfit, promptly came through with a statement to the effect that he was dickering with Joe Finker to succeed the umpire manager. Herrmann did not say whether or not he was positive that he would land the Theban short-field star, but his statement means taps for Hank.

The situation as far as Dahlen is concerned is this: Rumors are flying thick and fast as to successors for Bad Bill, but as fast as they are carried to Owner Ebbets they are denied. Ebbets, however, fails to deny that he has not signed Dahlen to a managerial contract, but adds that he is sure Dahlen is willing to smear the ink on the paper within a short time.

The only leaders secure in their places are John McGraw, with the National league champs, and Fred Clarke, of the Pirates.

The position of Charles Doolin, of the Phillies, is problematical. He is on the doubtful list. Just what will be done with Horace Fogel and his charges remains to be seen, but if any of the reports from Philly to the effect that that club is to change hands are true, there is a possibility the sorrel-topped backstop will find himself in the Chance class.

WHAT MR. BRYAN SAYS.

Great Commoner Says He's Happier Than Wilson.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 6.—William J. Bryan, expressing his pleasure at the election of Governor Wilson, said: "As a religious hymn has been brought into the campaign by one of the parties, I think that I am justified in using the lines of another hymn to express my feelings."

"This is the day I long have sought, 'And mourned because I found it not.' 'I am happier than Governor Wilson for his joy is repressed by a sense of responsibility, while I am happy and free. 'My confidence in Governor Wilson has grown with acquaintance and I feel sure that he will live up to expectations. I believe he listens to his conscience.'"

PRESIDENT-ELECT WILSON AS THE "HUMAN" MAN

INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT PRESIDENT-ELECT WILSON.

He is 56 years old.
He has a charming and beautiful wife and three charming daughters.
His daughters all look much more like him than like their mother. They are all grown and unmarried.
His first name is "Thomas," but he has not used it for many years. They called him Tommy in college.
He does not use tobacco. Drinks a little wine sometimes and a Scotch highball when very tired. Buttermilk is his favorite beverage.
He is nearly blind in his right eye as the result of an accident in youth. When reading he holds a monocle in front of the damaged eye.
His favorite recreation is golf, but he walks much.
He never drinks ice water.
Sleeps from 9 to 12 hours out of every 24.
Likes automobiling, but often goes to sleep in the motor.
He is a shorthand and typewriting expert. Writes all his speeches, lectures and books that way. He uses the "Graham system" of shorthand.
He is 5 feet, 10 inches tall, weighs 177 pounds.
He can run a half mile at a good pace without losing his "wind."
Dislikes military display.
Except for a few thousand dollars which he saved from his salary as president of Princeton, he has no money or property.
Considers "13" his lucky number. There are 13 letters in his name and in his thirteenth year as a professor at Princeton he was elected its thirteenth president.
Likes to go to the theater. Prefers comedy or light opera.
His best speeches are impromptu.
He has enormous ears and a large mouth, with large, irregular, somewhat discolored teeth.
He wears eye-glasses all the time.
Was a good baseball and football player when a young man.
He is Scotch-Irish.
His father was a Presbyterian minister and he is a Presbyterian, too.
When away from home he sends his wife a "lettergram" every night.

BY OLIVER P. NEWMAN.

At one of Gov. Wilson's big pre-convention meetings I overheard this conversation between two women in the crowd that stormed the candidate as he entered and left the hall.

"Did you get to shake hands with him?"

"Yes, and it was no trouble at all. Did you?"

"You bet. He just reached right out, smiled and shook hands. Why, he's just like anybody else."

No incident illustrates more strikingly the prevailing opinion of the personality of Woodrow Wilson and the actual fact of his unconventional, genial nature. When he began his campaign, most people pictured him as a reserved, cold-blooded, aristocratic individual. The fact is, he's about as "human" as it is possible to imagine a man to be.

"It grieves me terribly," he once said to me, "to realize that there are a lot of people who think that, merely because I've been college professor, I'm a stiff old ass who doesn't know anything."

One day Wilson was making a speech from the rear of his car in Indiana when a switch engine jolted the train a rod or two. Quick as a flash Wilson said with a smile:

"I don't like to talk from a shifty platform. I'd rather talk on a platform that stays put—like the platform constructed at Baltimore."

Coming through New England one night, Wilson's train stopped and a crowd in the half-lights of the station called for him. He stepped onto the rear platform and somebody cried:

"This is Waterbury, governor." The candidate shot back: "That's all right; my watch is wound up."

No man in public life since Lincoln has been more given to story-telling than the president-elect. One of the most effective in the recent campaign was his illustration of how he licked the bosses in New Jersey.

"It did not require courage to fight the bosses," he said, "after the people of New Jersey had instructed me to do it and after the bosses had discovered that I would do what I said I would. It was usually not necessary to do it after saying I intended to do it. It was like Davy Crockett and the coon. You know, when the coon saw Davy had a bead on him, he said: 'Don't shoot, Mr. Crockett; I'll come down.'"

Wilson also enjoys a good story for the story's sake, and is pretty sure to tell one or two during any general conversation to which he is a party. One of the best he has told recently is on his brother college president, Hadley of Yale.

"President Hadley was playing tennis and the bath tub was full of water, waiting for him, when Mrs. Hadley found their young son sailing ships in it. She reproved him severely and sent him into the yard. He went out into the street and happened to meet an old lady, to whom he said:

"The president of Yale will not take his accustomed bath today."
"The old lady was astonished. The boy piped out again: 'The president of Yale will not take his accustomed bath today.'"
"Why not?" she asked. The boy replied: 'Because I have the stopper in my pocket.'

It is probably safe to assume that if the election had been left to the members of the Denver Press club, Wilson would have been chosen unanimously, for on one of his visits to Denver he so endeared himself to the Rocky Mountain newspaper men that they're talking about him yet. The crowd at the Press club reception to him was so great there were not seats for all, so the party sat about the floor, Indian fashion, and told stories, the chief story-teller being the governor of New Jersey.

got better and better and Wilson and his hosts got friendlier and mellow. The newspaper boys were alternating their stories with various liquids, carefully handing the governor each time a lemonade, a white soda or something else "soft," and not presuming to offend him by suggesting that he take anything stronger. After consuming three or four such drinks Wilson glanced about the circle of squatted figures with a mischievous grin and said:

"By birth I am an American, by paternal parentage I am Irish, but by thrust I am Scotch."

The crowd took the hint with a whoop.

When Wilson returned from the trip on a sailing yacht, where he wrote his letter of acceptance of the democratic nomination, he produced the following limerick, prompted by a week on the ocean:

I wish that my room had a floor,
I don't care so much for a door,
But this walking around
Without touching the ground
Is getting to be such a bore.

The president-elect's full name is "Thomas Woodrow Wilson," but he has not used the "Thomas" since soon after he left college. People who didn't know this were therefore astonished when, at Gary, Ind., as the democratic candidate stepped onto a platform to make a speech, a stout man jumped up, rushed over to him, hammered him on the back and yelled:

"Hello, Tommy; how are you?"

"Tommy" was equally surprised, but he pumped the fat man's hand up and down, laughed happily, and exclaimed: "Why, hello, Bob; what are you doing here? My, but I'm glad to see you." Bob was an old, old friend, ex-Gov. Glenn, of North Carolina.

But President-elect Wilson is not always the genial, good-natured man indicated by these stories. His "humanness" is complete. He has a temper.

Usually, he keeps it pretty well under control, but he's just enough like other folks to lose it sometimes and get plain, downright, naturally mad. That happened once or twice during his campaign.

In one city he was halted by a reception committee in the lobby of a hotel, to wait a few minutes until the reception committee of another organization took him in charge. He had been making 10 or 15 speeches a day, traveling for a week on a train, subjecting himself to being crushed by crowds, shaking hands with both hands for hours and otherwise indulging in presidential campaigning of the most tiring sort. Instead of taking him to a quiet corner to wait for the other committee, those in charge had him taken into the lobby, where the crowd made for him. Wilson stepped into a side corridor, through an open door and into a vacant room. A committeeman beat it after him, grabbed his arm, started to drag him out, and cried:

"Here, you don't want to stay in the corner this way; you want to come out where the people can see you."

Wilson jerked quickly away from the committeeman, turned upon him, stuck his long jaw forward and snapped out: "Now, my friend, perhaps I know as much about where I want to be as you do. I'm not such a plain fool as I look. When I came in here I came because I am free, white and 21, fully capable of managing my own affairs and privileged to do whatever I please without any advice from anybody."

The committeeman, who happened to be a big man in his own community, gasped, apologized and backed out.

VOTES AT 103 YEARS OLD.

Joseph Lomax Casts Ballot for Wilson and Marshall.

Indianapolis, Nov. 6.—Joseph Lomax, who will be 103 years old in December, is said to be beyond a doubt the oldest voter in Indianapolis. At 1 o'clock yesterday he was taken in an automobile to the voting place and cast a vote for Wilson and Marshall.

After voting Mr. Lomax expressed his gratification at being able to assist another democratic presidential candidate. He has voted for every democratic presidential candidate since the time of Andrew Jackson. He has kept pace with the muddled political situation through the newspapers read to him by the members of his family.

Mr. Lomax was the organizer and first president of the Grand Rapids and Indiana railway. He also is said to be the oldest Knight Templar in the country.

TEARS FLOW AS STUDENTS CHEER

Wilson is Deeply Moved by Demonstration at Princeton.

HIS FIRST MESSAGE

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 6.—With tears of emotion in his eyes, Governor Wilson stood before the student body of Princeton university last night as it came cheering and singing to his home to congratulate him on his election.

Cheer after cheer rang forth when the governor finished speaking, and the students crowded forward to shake hands. When the governor went back into the house, he found the following telegram from Governor Marshall:

"I salute you, my chieftain, in all love and loyalty."
Governor Wilson replied:
"Warmest thanks for your generous telegram. Your part in the campaign was a source of great strength and stimulation. Now for the deep pleasure of close affiliation in a great work of national service."

His First Utterance.
Responding to a telegram from the democratic national chairman, asserting that Governor Wilson unquestionably was elected, the democratic candidate sent a dispatch to Mr. McCombs as follows:

"I deeply appreciate your telegram and wish to extend to you and the members of the campaign committee my warm congratulations on the part you have played in the organization and conduct of a campaign fought out upon essential issues."

"A great cause has triumphed. Every democrat, every true progressive, of whatever alliance, must now lend his full force and enthusiasm to the fulfillment of the people's hope, the establishment of the people's right, so that justice and progress may go hand in hand."

This was Governor Wilson's first utterance of a public character following his acceptance of the reports that he had been elected.

WHAT MARSHALL SAYS.

Points Public Duty Implied by Tremendous Victory.

Indianapolis, Nov. 6.—Governor Thomas R. Marshall last night issued this statement:

"The democratic victory of today will result in a restoration of representative government in America if democratic officials, both state and national, shall constantly remember that executive duty consists in the enforcement of the law and in the insistence upon legislative compliance with democratic platforms and principles; if legislative representatives will remember that they are to represent the people and not any interest whatever and will be zealous to formulate into legislation the principles either enunciated in democratic platforms or growing out of the basic principles of Jeffersonian democracy; and if perfection of reason in the light of today and not in the light of two centuries ago and shall be content to construe and not to make statutory law. The principles of democracy, finding their expression in representative government, are now upon trial. This is the last chance that will be given the office-holder to prove himself the se-vant, and not the master, of the people, unless he really serves. Failing to guarantee honest individual opportunity to every man, unhindered and unhelped by law, the people will pronounce representative government a failure and will seek expression of democratic doctrine under some other system. The party appreciates the gravity of the situation and the sacred burden which it bears. It enters not carelessly, but reverently upon the discharge of its duty. It has faith in the people, hope for the future and charity for the wrongs and errors of the past. It enters confidently upon its great mission with malice toward none and charity for all. It seeks peace, not war; but it knows that peace can only come when accompanied by her hand-maidens, justice and mercy."

AGED INDIAN CHIEF DEAD.

Pottawatomie Warrior Was 120 Years Old.

Traverse City, Mich., Nov. 6.—"Joe" Manitou, Indian chief, who was born on the banks of the Chicago river 120 years ago, is dead here. He came to northern Michigan after the red men had been vanquished in their battle against the whites for the mastery of Illinois. For fifteen years he had lived in a hut at Cedar, his only surviving son attending him. He belonged to the Pottawatomie tribe. His memory was clear until recently and he could recall many details of early Indian wars in which he participated.

Half Dozen Men Who Scrubbed "Dirty Bill" Haled to Court.

Otto Wyo, Nov. 6.—"Dirty Bill," a hermit, has caused the arrest of half a dozen young men of Otto, who caught him in the town several days ago and gave him a bath and scrubbing.

Bill had boasted that he had not had a bath in twenty years, and his appearance was right in line with his brag. After the bath the boys cut his hair and beard, dressed him in a clean shirt and suit of second-hand clothing, burned his old rags and then turned him loose.

The Wabash Plaindealer prints the following notice of one of the best known passenger men ever located in Fort Wayne: "Col. R. G. Thompson, for many years division passenger agent of the Wabash at Fort Wayne, and who is now with the immigration department of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road, is with J. D. Cook, in charge of the St. Paul agricultural and horticultural exhibit car now at the Wabash railroad station. Col. Thompson has a fine position with the St. Paul and will be glad to meet his old Wabash friends at the car."

NO PROFIT CARRYING EGGS.

A phase of the high cost of eggs that is little discussed is the great loss of this commodity during transportation. Eggs are one of the buggaboos of the railroads, for they are fragile, and require exacting care in transportation. The railroads are constantly confronted by heavy claims for damages for broken eggs, and on this account are hauling eggs at no profit whatever. In order to readjust the present arrangement in some manner the trunk lines association, which is composed of railroads carrying eggs into New York, have requested a conference with a committee from the National Mercantile exchange. It is contended that the claims for damages for shipments during a recent week aggregated 80 per cent of the freight revenue on eggs. Of a total of $3,190 cases received, damage was asked on 23,650 cases. C. C. McCain, chairman of the trunk lines' association committee, holds that under the present rules governing the allowance for damages and adjustment of claims it is estimated that the amount to be claimed on the total number of damaged cases will be approximately $22,000. The estimated freight revenue on the number of cases received during the same period is $28,000.

THIRD TRACK COMPLETED.

Pennsylvania Puts Another Elevated Track in Service.

At 9:30 o'clock this morning No. 1, the outgoing passenger track on the Pennsylvania, was put into service, making three elevated tracks now completed and in service. They are Nos. 1, 2 and 3. The work of elevating No. 3 track is now in progress and will be pushed along as rapidly as possible.

OFF FOR THE BIG WOODS.

District Passenger Agent W. H. Shorey, of the Wabash, sent thirty hunters on their way to the big woods in Maine. Fort Wayne people who were in the party were J. W. and John Ballou, William Lahrman, S. L. Kuntz, John Trautman, J. F. Menzer, G. W. McNamara, J. S. Simmons, William Klinger, C. W. Bear, Moses Harold, Daniel Harold, J. Gutermuth, Claude Jeffries and Louis Wiegman.

TRACK BLOCKED THREE HOURS.

An insignificant little accident just west of Hugo early this morning delayed eastbound Wabash passenger train No. 2 three hours. A car in first freight train No. 51 jumped the rails and got its wheels in such position that the engine crew could not put them back on the track. The accident happened a short time before No. 2, which was to pass the freight at a siding a short distance west of the scene of the accident, was due.

BOWSER LEAVES FOR WEST.

President S. F. Bowser, of the S. F. Powser company, left this morning on a trip through the south, west and north-west that will extend over a month. He will stop at Kansas City a few days, going thence to Dallas, Texas, where he will be joined by General Manager A. Z. Polhamus and together they will continue the trip to the Pacific coast. Mr. Polhamus left last Friday for Galveston and other cities in Texas. Sales Manager Walter C. Zahrt accompanied Mr. Bowser a part of the way.

WILL DROP OUT CAR.

Saturday, November 3, is the date set for discontinuing the St. Louis-New York through Pullman car on Wabash trains 1 and 4, the Continental limited. This reduction of size of train will enable it to make better time than it has been making. This train as now made up is one of the heaviest on the Wabash.

BOUGHT HARMON RESTAURANT.

Conductor H. G. Quiver, of the Pennsylvania, and his sister, Mrs. Edgar Schiefer, have purchased the Harmon lunch room at 1422 South Calhoun street, and are making some improvements in the property. Mrs. Schiefer will have charge of the business and Conductor Quiver will continue in the employ of the Pennsylvania.

W. C. Downing, who was appointed superintendent of the Pittsburgh division of the Pennsylvania lines west, with headquarters in Pittsburgh, a few days ago, is a Hoosier, being a native of Richmond, where he entered the service of the company in the capacity of roadman in 1885. He is known to a number of Fort Wayne's railroad people.

CHARGE HIM UP WITH TEN WIVES

Police Threaten to Fill the Court Room With Ellsworth's Families.

AND AFFINITIES, TOO

Philadelphia, Nov. 3.—Ten wives and at least four affinities constitute the record to date of Addison Francis Ellsworth, so it was asserted by the Philadelphia police when they arraigned him in court. He had been arrested at the instance of an insurance company on the complaint of a woman who said he had embezzled $200 from her, but when he came to be arraigned one of his many children by his numerous alleged affinities made a new charge against him, on which he was sent to prison without bail.

According to the story told in court, Ellsworth is 39 years old and was born at Riverside, Cal. When eighteen he married for the first time at Frederick, Md., and had two children. After that, it is said, he accumulated a wife and two children at Kortright, N. Y.; a wife and one child at Norwich, N. Y.; a wife at Deposit, N. Y.; a wife at Baltimore, a sixth wife and two children at Frederick, Md.; two wives and one child at Philadelphia; three affinities and two children also at Philadelphia; a wife and two children at Easton, Pa., and a wife at Bangor, Pa.

One of the Philadelphia affinities abandoned her husband for Ellsworth, who, it is alleged, forged the husband's name to a $1,000 check. Such were the allegations of the police, who added that they would fill the courtroom with Ellsworth's wives, children and affinities when he is brought to trial.

TWO FLASHLIGHT PICTURES TAKEN WHILE THE VAST CROWD READ ELECTION RETURNS THROWN ON THE SCREEN IN FRONT OF THE SENTINEL OFFICE.

In all the history of election returns in Fort Wayne by stereopticon there has never been as enthusiastic, appreciative and tenacious crowd around any newspaper office as the throng that gathered on Wayne street Tuesday night to watch the show given by The Sentinel.

And the crowd stuck, too. At 11 o'clock it was apparently undiminished. Many of those who came early in the evening had gone, but the street was still packed from there was a break in the line to permit traffic and on the east side there was a big gathering with its eyes glued on the canvas.

Aside from the entertainment furnished by The Sentinel the crowd was evidently hungry for peanuts as the pavement was literally covered with shells when the bulletins were discontinued and the people had dispersed.

And The Sentinel show was worth it. With a big screen especially constructed for the occasion, its Associated press wires ticked off the returns from every part of the United States just as soon as they were available and the menu of cold figures enlivened now and then by Griswold's cartoons and sketches, a program was supplied thoroughly in keeping with the enthusiasm of the people who watched for the returns.

From the outset it was seen that the democratic ticket had fulfilled the predictions made for it and the race narrowed down to a point where the spectators were anxious to see whether Mr. Roosevelt and his progressive platform would lead that of the old line republicanism. Judging from the applause the crowd was about equally divided on this point.

One queer feature of the whole affair was the lack of enthusiasm in the local race. Just as rapidly as the county figures were received they were copied and thrown on the screen and the excellent system provided by The Sentinel enabled it to give not only early, but accurate returns. When the county and city figures were displayed the throng remained passive. There was an occasional explosion of enthusiasm, but it was usually isolated and short lived.

The greatest cheering followed returns on the presidential vote. Apathy shown in the race among the home talent was probably due to a single cause. There had been no doubt for months in the minds of democrats, progressives and republicans that the democratic county ticket was absolutely safe and that there was not a chance in a thousand to beat it.

It was simply a question of how big the pluralities would be and the crowd was evidently content to wait for these until morning, while it fed hungrily on national returns. These two pictures were taken by flashlight by Photographer Standish. The first time he touched off his flashlight powder he gave no warning and some people thought it was lightning and were seriously disturbed for a few seconds, but when time came for the second shot the crowd was warned to "look pretty" and not be afraid.

Keeping pace with advancement The Sentinel has from year to year improved its facilities for entertaining election night throngs and has had the pleasure of the most cordial response from its friends and its patrons, but the gathering last night was the biggest it has ever had and it is counted for anything the people were just as highly pleased as The Sentinel.

IN THE CHURCHES NEED TRAINING FOR THEIR WORK

Sunday School Teachers
Should Be Especially Equipped for Calling.

SAYS G. N. BURNIE

The teachers in our Sunday schools ought to have a special education for their work. A general education is not sufficient, just as it is not sufficient in many of the business callings in life. They must be trained for their special line of work. And the Sunday school teachers need this special training if they would be at their best in the religious education of the young.

This was the central thought of G. N. Burnie, of Indianapolis, the state secretary of the Indiana Sunday School association in an address on the subject, "Specialization," delivered at the opening session this forenoon at the First Baptist church of the annual convention of the Sunday schools of Allen county.

The convention was not largely attended at its opening, at 10 o'clock. The rainy weather of the morning and the national election of the day before had the tendency to keep many of the Sunday school workers in the country and in the towns away. But the sessions of today were nevertheless interesting.

The convention began with Dr. M. A. Mason, the vice president, as presiding officer, and Mrs. Nettie Hubler, of Hoagland, at the secretary's desk. Rev. C. H. Snashall, pastor of the convention Hoagland, at the secretary's desk. Rev. Edward Montgomery, of the Third Presbyterian church, conducted the devotions, giving a very interesting talk on the motto of the association, "We Would See Jesus."

Rev. Mr. Snashall delivered the address of welcome. Following the address of State Secretary Burnie, the township presidents made their reports. The programed addresses for this afternoon were made by Miss Hazel Lewis, the state superintendent of the elementary department, Noah A. Gerig, of Grabbill, Aaron Souder and Rev. E. E. Campbell.

A public meeting will be held this evening at the First Baptist church. Secretary Burnie will speak on "Things That Inspire," and Miss Lewis on "The Evangelistic Opportunity." The convention continues through tomorrow forenoon.

Simultaneous Meetings.
Commencing next Monday each of the five Methodist churches of the city will have special services every night during the week. At an exhibition of works of art at present being held in St. Petersburg there may be seen a set of porcelain dishes which is considered the most costly in the world. It consists of thirty-six hand colored plates. This set has an estimated value of 36,000 rubles ($18,540), a single plate, therefore, being worth 1,000 rubles ($515). It is the property of Count Orloff-Davidoff.

A novel use was made of the talking machine recently in a Farman biplane. A passenger dictated his observations, which were made on a record of specially strong material. This was then carefully wrapped and thrown to the ground, where the record was reproduced. How successful the experiment was, says the Scientific American, we are unable to learn.

ACCEPTS DEFEAT IN GOOD GRACE

C. R. Lane, Defeated for Congress, Talks of Losing Fight.

VOICES HIS THANKS

Discussing the election, Charles R. Lane, who was the republican nominee for congress in this district, comes up smiling and takes defeat in good grace. Mr. Lane said:

"The people have spoken and individuals will accept the result without a murmur. This is the way of every true American. We have had a battle of ballots, and the majority rules. In other words, the people rule and I hope those who have been trying to make us believe we don't, will now cease their babbling. The people have chosen their policy for the next few years and everyone will be glad to know in time that the change, when the new administration and new policies come in, has not affected the prosperous business conditions which now prevail. We made our appeal in good faith, believing in the soundness of our argument, but the court of last resort—the people—has ruled against us and the court's decision must be respected. The democratic party will soon shoulder the entire responsibility for good government and continued prosperity and while its history is not reassuring, it is now entitled to confidence until reason is shown for distrust."

"I thank all the voters for their uniformly courteous treatment of me during the campaign. I made my appeal with argument and have nothing to regret. I have not at any time spoken unkindly of our opponents."

"I thank the district chairman, Mr. A. J. Vesey, the county chairman, Mr. Leesch, and the other members of the organization in this and the other counties in the district for their hard work in behalf of myself and others on the ticket. The candidates in the other counties were also most courteous and kind. I regret that those who had every reason to expect election have failed because of the Roosevelt-Beveridge defection."

"The republican party was founded on principles which still live and the party will live. Its troubles in this campaign were due to the disappointment of one man, whose prestige and influence were secured by means of honors and offices given him by the republican party, and who threw the defeat when he found he could not drive the engine. The combined vote of Roosevelt and Taft would have continued the republican policies, as the result shows. But the people are to be congratulated that the third term rule has not been broken, and as the new president is a man of highest moral character, sterling patriotism and splendid powers of mind, let us all get down to business and boost for a continuance of prosperity."

BARREL RIDE ONE OF MANY TERRORS

Curious Man Falls Inside and Can't Get Out for Nails.

CROWD WAS PLEASED

New York, Nov. 6.—An animated barrel rolling along Kent avenue, near South Tenth street, Williamsburg, caused pedestrians to pause in open-mouthed wonder. From the headless end of the barrel protruded a pair of legs. From the general interior issued muffled howls for help.

Within the barrel—but the fact did not appear at the moment—was a good deal of Thomas Roach, a machinist living at 30 Norton street, and some nails. The nails were extremely irritating to Roach and disastrous to his clothes—hence the howls.

Roach—and this also became evident after the man had been removed from the barrel and the nails from his anatomy—got into the barrel and a large amount of trouble through curiosity. Wishing to know what was within, he peeped in, lost his balance and fell in.

Encountering the nails, Roach rolled into the middle of the street in a vain effort to detach himself. But the further he rolled the more tenacious did the nails lay hold of his clothes and flesh, and the greater was his agony. Roach waved his legs as an added plea for help, but none came.

Pedestrians seemed to think the man in the barrel might be paying a bet and as his antics were highly amusing they set to and helped roll him until he had progressed a block. They were still rolling when Policeman Bender of the Citymer street station appeared. He tried to pull the prisoner out, but desisted when Roach shrieked with pain.

Peering into the barrel Bender saw the nails and got a saw and an ax. By liberal use of both he finally extricated pretty much all of Roach and some of his clothes. Then he sent to the Eastern District hospital for an ambulance. The surgeon took Roach into the ambulance and applied plaster until he looked more or less like a patchwork bedquilt. Then Roach went home.

WHY CHAFIN FAILED TO WIN.
Prohibitionist Says Men Fail to Vote as They Believe.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—Eugene W. Chafin, prohibition candidate, said concerning the showing made by his party: "Seven men out of ten throughout the United States are opposed to the saloons. If they had voted as they believed there would have been a landslide. The idea that the prohibition party has no chance of success is the thing that defeats it."

BIG SUM OFFERED FOR TABLE COVER

Handsomeness Center Piece
Was Six Years in the Making.

HUSBAND'S PRESENT

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 6.—On exhibition in the embroidery department at the John Taylor dry goods store is a table cover made by Mrs. Lynn Gordon Buford, of 2223 East Thirty-third street. It was six years in the making and when it was done Mrs. Buford received an offer of $1,500 for it. Mrs. Buford did not even consider the offer seriously. She gave the table cover to Mr. Buford for a birthday anniversary gift.

Charles E. Walker, chief of the white goods department at Taylor's, gave a little lecture about the table cover.

"It is made of Hardanger material," he said, "and the style of embroidery also is known as Hardanger, from the little Norwegian village where it originated. The Hardanger weave is very heavy, almost a canvas in some grades. The table cover is two and one-half by three yards and is made in three pieces. Unless you are an expert you can't detect the seams where the sections are joined. They are beautifully concealed with an over and under stitch and form a part of a general scheme."

The central part of the cover is solid, decorated with the Hardanger embroidery. The corners and edges, however, are largely in open work, laid out in small squares showing an infinity of detail.

"I should say it would take more than three years of continuous work for me to make a piece like that," Mrs. Buford said. "But, of course, one couldn't work that long at a stretch. The work is very exacting. Every stitch must be counted and there are millions, I guess, in a piece of that size. In making a figure if one stitch is missed the whole row must be taken out and done over. I worked when I felt like it and passed six years making it."

"The longest stretch of nearly continuous work was four months. No, I don't think I shall make any more pieces as pretentious as this one. I have a luncheon set of forty-eight pieces done in the same style. But I fancy this will have to rest as my chef d'oeuvre. Anyway, Mr. Buford seems pleased with it."

START CAMPAIGN ON CHURCH BELL

Declare Property Values Have Been Reduced
by Noise.

AGAINST THE CHIMES

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 6.—Declaring that the ringing of church bells is merely a survival of a village custom and has no relation to religious conditions today in a big city like Baltimore, Tel-fair W. Marriott, a real estate broker, said that the bells should be silenced because they are doing thousands of dollars damage to property by driving away tenants.

From every section of the city the anti-noise committee is receiving letters by the score protesting against church bells. Persons who have lived in other cities declare that their experience here has convinced them that Baltimore has the most bells of any city in the world, the loudest bells and the most frequently rung bells.

Mr. Marriott, who is agent for properties down town, has been giving thought for a long time to the effect of bells, but like others has hesitated to speak about them. He said he has had many owners or occupants of downtown property complain of the bells. Again and again, he says, he has lost the best kind of tenants, anxious to live near the center of the city, because they could not sleep Sunday mornings or week mornings on account of the bells.

His investigation has shown him, he says, that the downtown bells have scarcely any relation to the arousing of the members of these churches, because the greater number of the members of all downtown churches live at a great distance and could not hear the loudest of bells. The earliest of the bells, which have caused the most annoyance, he says, serve no purpose because persons who wish to attend the earliest services would have to be awake before the bells rang or they could not get there on time.

Out in the country, where the church is sure to be some little distance from the nearest house, he thinks the bells might serve their purpose.

Many persons are asking that their names be withheld, because some of those complaining about one church are members of another and do not want their opposition to be regarded as prejudice. Some of the writers say they have moved into a house near a church because they thought a church would give the tone they desired in a neighborhood, but have had to move away because of the annoying bells.

Already several hundred letters have been received by the committee. Some persons attribute nervousness and illness of one sort or another to the noises of the city. The committee is trying to tabulate these letters and classify the noises as easily preventable and as difficult to deal with.

Those showing direct loss in dollars and cents to the city are being classified, so that when all the data has been accumulated the committee can present its arguments along this line in a convincing way.

HUMPLESS NOSE IN COURT CASE

"Featural Specialist" Begins
Action to Recover
His Fees

IN NASAL OPERATION

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 6.—The humpleless nose of Christian Brinkop, jr., was offered as exhibit "A" in the court of Justice Walker, where the action of Dr. J. T. Pinkstaff, a "featural specialist," against the Christian Brinkops, senior and junior, was heard. The plaintiff was seeking to collect $88.50 from the Brinkops for having removed the hump from the younger Brinkop's nose.

"That son of mine caused a lot of unnecessary trouble," exclaimed the elder Brinkop angrily as he left the witness stand. Mr. Brinkop, sr., is president of the board of tax assessors. "He was a sight better looking when that Brinkop hump on his nose than he is now since he had it straightened," added the father.

Some one laughingly suggested that the elder Brinkop was proud of the Brinkop hump.

"You bet your life, I am," he shouted, placing the tip of his index finger on his nose affectionately.

A letter was offered in evidence by Dr. Pinkstaff. It was written by Christian Brinkop, jr., according to his own admission, but bore what purported to be the signature of Charles Brinkop, sr. The letter assured Dr. Pinkstaff that he would be paid for his services.

GIRLS WALK ROPE TO BUILD NERVES

New Gymnastics for Students Proves Exciting
at First

THEN GROWS TAME

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 6.—As part of a course in "nerve gymnastics" designed for the students of the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy by Mr. Ward Beam, the physical director, a party of students, a score of young men and three girls, has performed the feat of crossing a river on a rope bridge.

The outfit consisted of two stout ropes —one for the feet and the other for the hands.

The spot selected for the exploit was a river with an unpronounceable and wholly superfluous name. Two trees on opposite sides served as anchors for the rope bridge. It took about five minutes to build—possibly a record feat in bridge building. The first rope walker was over in less than a minute. Then one of the girls was given the privilege of crossing.

Not less than ten male admirers assured her, before she began her daring trip, that she need have no fear of being swept away by the current in the event of a fall, each one declaring that he would hit the water in a dive to the rescue as soon as the girl felt the flood closing over her.

On the second and third passages the students found it comparatively easy to keep upright.

Asked to explain the object of this novel course in gymnastics, Mr. Beam said:

"It is done simply and solely to harden the nerves of the students. We lack nerve chiefly because we never do anything to cultivate strength in this direction. Now just look at those girls crossing the river on a rope and thinking nothing at all of it. They never attempted such a thing in their lives before. It isn't nerve at all when you look at it in the right way. You noticed that on the third crossing none of the boys or girls showed any hesitation at all."

NO RATS EVER HAD SUCH A BIG FEAST

So the Bo'sun Adventured
With a Club Into the Hold.

FOUND A STOWAWAY

New York, Nov. 6.—Henry Poertner, who says he is 23, of 4123 Arco avenue,
St. Louis, was brought back on the United Fruit company's steamer Meta-pan from Colon. He had stowed away on the sister liner Zacapa, which sailed from New York three weeks ago. The Zacapa lay over at Kingston two days, but Poertner stayed in the hold.

Meanwhile nutshells were discovered upon the sacks and cases of merchandise, but it was supposed that rats had been helping themselves to tasty freight.

Just before the Zacapa reached Colon groans, as of a human being in deep distress, were heard issuing from the freight compartment.

It took a brave man then to enter the hold and solve the mystery of the groans, for it could not be merely rats this time. The bo'sun, accompanied by a brace of husky seamen, entered the hold with lanterns and clubs.
Stretched upon bales of merchandise under the angle irons they found the stowaway suffering from a complication of dried apples and wine.

He was turned over to the doctor for treatment. It was found that he had been living on the best of wines, fruits and nuts. The crew were willing to bet that Poertner had gained fifty pounds in weight and grown three times his usual girth.

After he had recovered from the effects of his expanding diet he was turned over to the police at Colon for safe keeping. A week later he was placed on board the Metapan to be brought back to New York.

When the ship came into port Poert-ner was locked up in the wheelhouse while the ship's officers decided if they should deliver him to the police for breaching cargo or turn him loose as an American citizen whose presence had not been desired in the canal zone.

ACTRESS SUES A $5 WEEK CLERK

Writes His Wife of a Gay
Auto Ride With a Star.

SHE WANTS $100,000

New York, Nov. 6.—Deane Larabee
Weaver, who must pay his wife, Mrs.
Florence Shortie Weaver, his entire salary of $5 a week, pending her suit for separation, was bending over his desk in the office of Spencer Trask & Co.
when a man entered and asked:

"Are you Deane Larabee Weaver?"

"That's my name," replied Weaver, and the man handed him a complaint in a $100,000 suit for slander filed against him by Miss Edith Taliaferro.

Weaver, who cast his first vote Tuesday, looked at the complaint and, realizing fully his financial condition, became alarmed. He will have to work just 400 years at his present salary and not spend one cent to make good the $100,- 000 should Miss Taliaferro win a verdict, and in the meantime he will not be able to pay his wife the stipulation allowed her by the court.

However, Weaver accepted the complaint, sighed and tucked it in his pocket.

Wrote Wife of His Gay Life.

The wife's suit for separation and Miss Taliaferro's suit for slander both are based on a letter Weaver wrote
Mrs. Weaver last summer, when he was posing as a man of the world, a high-flyer and spender. He had let Mrs.
Weaver believe that his salary down among bankers and brokers was about $250 a week, and when he went down on long Island for social enjoyment he left her behind.

To impress her he wrote her a letter, telling her how he had taken an automobile ride with Miss Taliaferro and Miss Lila Frost, after a party at the Taliaferro home which broke up at 3 a.
m. The automobile ride continued until 5, he said. Weaver's letter made it appear that the ride was only one of many incidents in his gay life.

The suit for separation brought out the letter. Then Weaver came forward and published a statement denying that he had ever taken such a ride and attempting to explain that he only wrote the letter to impress his wife.

But the denial did not appease Miss Taliaferro's anger. She sailed for Europe with the "Rebecca of Sunside Farm" Company the day Mrs. Weaver received the letter and about the time
Weaver was gasping over the complaint in the office of his employers, she tripped down the gangplank of the steamship Celtic, along with Miss Lila Frost and eighteen other members of the company.

GIRLS BARRED FROM SCHOOL.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 6.—Girl students have been barred from New Wilbraham academy, formerly Wesleyan Academy, of Wilbraham, and this school is now exclusively for boys.

Coaducation was found to be a failure, according to the academy officials.

"I am and always have been strongly opposed to coeducation in academies," said Gaylor W. Douglass, head master of the academy. "It is almost impossible to impress upon the minds of boys and girls who leave their homes to enter these academies the importance of education. Their sentimental acquaintance with one another while at school seems to predominate."

"This academy has been noted for nearly a century as the first Methodist coeducational school in the country."

FAMILY OF FIVE MUST HAVE $1,145

Chicago Minimum Wage Budget Does Not Include Saving Fund OR ANY LUXURIES

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 6.—What constitutes a "living wage" for a family of five—husband, wife and three children—in Chicago? Economists and settlement workers have made estimates ranging from $700 to $1,100 a year. Before the street car wage arbitration board an itemized budget was introduced showing that the least a family of five should have in this city to maintain American standards is $1,154.40.

To live within this income the family must eliminate luxuries of every kind and confine itself to one entertainment at a theater in a year at a cost of $2.50, including car fare. No account is taken of tobacco or liquor, and no provision is made for a savings account.

The budget sets the price of coal, kindling wood and gas for lighting and cooking at $86. Clothing for the bread winner is placed at $60.50, which includes one uniform suit with an extra pair of trousers, one citizen's suit, gloves, socks and shirts.

The clothing for the wife is placed at $35 and for the three children at $21, or $7 each. Shoes for the family, with repairs, cost $92 and include two pairs for the husband and wife and three pairs for each child. The bill for furniture renewals and household utensils is placed at $65.50.

The partial food bill, totaling $320.10, is included—Meat, at 35 cents a day, $127.75; bread, at 15 cents a day, $54.75; cake and pastry at 10 cents a day, $36.50; milk, at 10 cents a day, $36.50; potatoes, $18; sugar, five pounds a week, $18.20; tea, at 15 cents a week, $7.80; coffee, at 30 cents a week, $15.60; breakfast foods, at 25 cents a week, $13.

Butter, eggs, lard and cheese are placed in a separate classification and total $90.55, while vegetables cost $13, fruits, $15.50, canned goods, $31.72 and sundries, like pepper, salt, catsup, vinegar and other items, amount to $4.80.

Of Known Reputation FREE—Who Has the Largest Practice of Diseases Peculiar to Men in the City

E. W. MORELAND M. D.

136 W. Wayne Street., Fort Wayne, Ind.

Special Notice This is where you will receive a cure and entire satisfaction. It is a specialist's office where those in need of medical aid are treated right in every respect, and where they are dealt with honestly and conscientiously. You are told nothing but the truth, what you may depend upon and what you will find exactly as represented.

Nervous Debility Men whose vitality is diminishing—and there are thousands of them—owe it to themselves to take prompt steps to relieve a condition which ultimately leads to misery and helplessness. At no time in a man's life does he need more the service of a skilled specialist.

Varicocele—Varicocele is the most treacherous and silent of certain in its ill results of all known ailments of men. It makes its appearance apparently without causes, but never ceases in its destructive influences until it robs a man of all his vigor, vitality, making him a complete physical wreck.

A large number of my cured patients have freely given me permission to refer to them, so we can no doubt refer you to some neighbor in your vicinity who has been cured by me and who will gladly testify as to my reliability and successful treatment.

The methods used for curing the diseases I treat are time-tried and reliable; therefore, in accepting a case for treatment it is perfectly reasonable to promise the same results that scientific methods have accomplished many times over.

Remember, my charges are reasonable enough to place my treatment within the reach of any one needing the services of a specialist, and every one may be assured the amount asked will be no more than he is willing and glad to pay for benefits received.

I POSITIVELY CURE VARIOCELE, HYDROCELE, RUPTURE, STRICTURE, PRIVATE DISEASES, PROSTATIC TROUBLES, KIDNEY AND BLADDER DISEASES, SPECIFIC BLOOD POISON AND NERVOUS DEBILITY.

Blood Poison If you have sore throat, mucous patches, pimples, copper-colored spots, sores and ulcers, bone pains, falling hair or any other symptoms of contagious blood poison, in either primary, secondary or tertiary stages, come to me and be forever rid of it. My treatment quickly destroys the virus, clears the skin, purifies the blood and thoroughly cleanses and eradicates all traces of the poison from the system. I stop its progress and all danger of transmission or recurrence is removed.

The treatment I administer for blood poison acts rapidly upon the diseased blood cells, expelling the poison therefrom, and soon shows to the entire satisfaction of the patient that the deadly virus or poison is being forever exterminated from the system and the cure effected. I want every victim of this disease who has heretofore been treated without benefits, and WHO REALLY DESIRES TO BE CURED, to call upon me here at my offices or to write me, when I will take pleasure in explaining to you a treatment that is DEATH TO DEADLY BLOOD POISON. This treatment contains nothing that is injurious to the health of the patient, but strengthens and rebuilds him from the damaging effects of the disease, causing him to increase in flesh, the skin to regain its healthy color and condition and in fact by removing the poison from the system, restores the sufferer that which the disease has impaired. IT WILL COST YOU NOTHING TO CONSULT ME ABOUT YOUR CASE.

CATARRHAL CONDITIONS Catarrh of the nose, throat and lungs successfully treated by my new inhalation method. It removes all irritation, pain in forehead, "drooping," hawking, and spitting and prevents lung complications, chronic bronchial and pulmonary diseases.

CONSULTATION AND EXAMINATION ABSOLUTELY FREE AND CONFIDENTIAL — I SUCCESSFULLY TREAT AND CURE NERVOUS, CHRONIC AND PRIVATE DISEASES OF MEN AND WOMEN.

YOU CAN SEE ME AT MY OFFICE FROM 9 to 12, 1 to 5, and 7 to 8; Sundays 9 to 1. Consultation, examination and opinions given without charge. If you cannot call, write for information.

BOTTLE CIRCLES THE GLOBE. Thrown Into Ohio River, It Lands in California.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 6.—Throwing a tightly corked bottle, containing her name and address, into the Ohio river nearly fifty years ago, Miss Nora Lea, of 104 East Gray street, Louisville, did not hear from it until recently, when she learned that it had been picked up off San Diego, Cal.

The finder, Charles Collins, of 504 Phillips street, Toledo, O., sent Miss Lea the slips of paper she had put in the bottle, saying he had fished it out of Coronado bay while on a visit to California.

Capt. John F. C. Hedgegawld, U. S. A. (retired) of Louisville, whose interest was attracted by the incident, probably will make a report to the United States coast and geodetic survey, believing the bottle passed down the Ohio, into the Mississippi, through the Gulf of Mexico, then across the Atlantic, Indian and Pacific oceans before it was finally washed up on the coast of California.

SPECULATING ON CABINET TIMBER

Washington Starts Gossip Regarding Probable Selections.

BRYAN FIGURES IN IT

Washington, Nov. 4.—President-Elect Wilson is expected to select his cabinet timber from among the following democrats who have labored zealously in behalf of his election:

- William Jennings Bryan, of Nebraska.
- William McCombs, of New York.
- William McAdoo, of New York.
- Louis Brandeis, of Massachusetts.
- Josephus Daniels, of North Carolina.
- Palmer Mitchell, of Pennsylvania.
- Joseph W. Folk, of Missouri.

Study Question With Care.

Reports received from the Wilson headquarters indicate that the president-elect will not proceed hastily in connection with the organization of his cabinet. He will study political and geographical conditions and endeavor to form a ministry which will be approved by all the people.

In this work he unquestionably will be guided largely by Mr. Bryan. The latter's service to Mr. Wilson has been incalculable. It was his course at Baltimore which forced the nomination of the New Jersey governor in the face of the most determined opposition of Murphy, of Tammany Hall and the allied bosses. Mr. Bryan has been constantly on the stump during the election campaign and has been presenting through the press reasons why the democratic party should be entrusted with power.

Those who claim to know have not the slightest doubt that Mr. Wilson will invite Mr. Bryan to enter his cabinet. Whether the Nebraskan will accept a seat at the cabinet table, no one knows. In spite of the nomination and election of the New Jersey man, Mr. Bryan still has his eye on the presidency. He anticipated the election of Mr. Wilson by inducing the democratic party to insert in its Baltimore platform a plank pledging the party to a one term candidate.

Seeks to Avoid Bounds.

If Mr. Bryan were to accept an appointment in the new cabinet he would be more or less bound not to oppose any attempt on the part of his chief to seek a re-election. He could resign, as other members of the cabinet have done, in order to enter the presidential race, but his position would be the stronger if he were to remain in private life.

There is only one position in the cabinet Mr. Wilson could offer to Mr. Bryan, and that is the secretaryship of state. The man holding this office is known as the premier of the administration. By reason of the numerous trips he has made abroad, Mr. Bryan has personal information as to our foreign relations and undoubtedly would put it to practical use if he were to serve as the head of the state department.

Brandeis Expert on Trusts.

Another important portfolio is that of attorney general. Mr. Brandeis unquestionably would be considered for this appointment. It is not generally known that throughout the campaign Mr. Brandeis has been Mr. Wilson's principal adviser in connection with his speeches on the trust question.

The reputation of this lawyer throughout the country is such that it is believed his selection would meet with general favor. It will be remembered that Mr. Brandeis appeared for three days before the interstate commerce committee of the senate and gave his views as to the means by which competition could be restored. He emphatically opposed regulation of corporations by commission, as contemplated by the progressive party platform.

Mr. McCombs, the campaign manager of Gov. Wilson, will be rewarded with a cabinet appointment, as is customary. It will be remembered that President Roosevelt reappointed Mr. Cortelyou, who was chairman of his campaign committee in 1904, to the cabinet, and that President Taft, in 1908, named Mr. Hitchcock, his campaign manager, as postmaster general. It is likely the post held by Mr. Hitchcock will go to Mr. McCombs.

One Handicap on McAdoo.

The fact that Mr. McAdoo, the engineer, also hails from New York, may operate to prevent his appointment. But New York is such a big state that past presidents have not hesitated to name two of its citizens as their principal advisers. So Mr. McAdoo may be considered by the president-elect for service as secretary of war. In this position he would have supervision over the Panama canal, river and harbor works, besides the army. Probably it would be a post to his liking.

For other portfolios, those of secretary of the treasury, secretary of the navy, secretary of the interior, secretary of commerce and labor, and secretary of agriculture, Mr. Wilson will have a wealth of material from which to choose. Unquestionably he will give the south representation in his cabinet, which makes the chances of Mr. Daniels rather bright.

Mention Williams and Gore.

Then there is Mr. Folk, of Missouri, who can be used in one of the positions, and Mr. Mitchell, of Pennsylvania, in another. Because of the majority the democrats will have in the senate and house of representatives the president-elect, if he so desires, can invite one or two members of congress to sit with him at the cabinet table. Senator John Sharp Williams, of Mississippi; Senator Gore, of Oklahoma, and Representative Henry, of Texas, have been talked of in this connection.

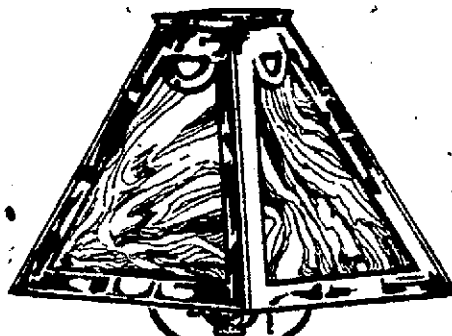

Want Pink Cheeks—Red Lips?

Some unfortunate men and women are prone to wonder why some of their friends are blessed with an abundance of color—pink cheeks and red lips—while they are always colorless. The reason for this last named condition is—there is not enough red blood corpuscles in the blood—under a microscope the blood is thin and watery. The flesh is flabby, too. Well known physicians assert that the regular administration for several months of three-grain hypos-niacine tablets will greatly improve the color, add to the weight, make the cheeks pink and the lips red, and in general be very beneficial. For self administration obtain from any of the best apothecary shops.—Adv.

SEETHING WATER FOR THE POLICE

Officers Forced to Draw Guns to Make Search of Roback Home.

WOMEN OPPOSED IT

Special Officers Brennan and Fry and Patrolmen Godfrey and Erdman were forced by two women last night to draw their revolvers and threaten to shoot unless they were permitted to search the Bill Roback home on Hayden street.

Each of the women had provided herself with a kettle of seething water and stationed herself at a window which had inadvertently been left open in the scheme of defense. The officers were after Bill Roback and Mike Felber, both of whom were found and who were in the city court today on charges of public intoxication. Their cases were continued under heavy bonds until some other investigations can be made.

The four officers surrounded the house and Brennan and Fry knocked to be admitted. The doors were locked and the women just simply defied them. In looking for an opening the raised window was discovered and this is where the trouble started. When the policemen approached the water was brought into requisition and they pointed their revolvers and said they would shoot and the women wilted. It is probable charges of resisting officers will be placed against them. One of them is Roback's wife and the other is thought to be his sister. The Other Cases.

A case of assault and battery against Eddie Hedges was continued for several days and he was allowed to go on his own recognizance. He is charged with assault and battery on Eli B. Mounts, a watchman at the Holman street lamp works, who says Hedges struck him with a bucket of beer while he was trying to prevent him from sitting with the girls at the plant.

Jack Burton and Leroy Stolder, who became prominent through their connection with the Niswonger cocaine cases, were picked up by Detective Sergeant Immel and were ordered held until Nov. 13. They were both under the influence of drugs when they were arrested and said they had been at Huntington.

Three foreigners charged with an assault on two other foreigners and all of them possessed of unpronounceable and unsplendid names, were held until November 9.

James Clark, for loitering, was fined $25 and costs. He was charged with an aggravated offense involving a lad of seventeen and was picked up by Officers Brennan and Fry.

Arthur Coir and Dan Connell, held several days on loitering charges, were allowed to go. They said they had some money when they went to jail, but were fined in the kangaroo court there and were broke when they were released.

Theodore Roosevelt made the following statement: "The American people by a great plurality have decided in favor of Mr. Wilson and the democratic party. Like all good citizens, I accept the result with entire good humor and contentment. As for the progressive cause, I can only repeat what I have already so many times said, the fate of the leader for the time being is of little consequence, but the cause itself must in the end triumph for its triumph is essential to the well being of the American people." (Signed.) "Theodore Roosevelt."

At the same time he issued his statement Colonel Roosevelt sent the following telegram to Governor Wilson: "The American people by a great plurality have conferred upon you the highest honor in their gift. I congratulate you thereon. (Signed.) "Theodore Roosevelt."

WHEN CAPITAL GOT THE NEWS

Thousands of Anxious Eyes Focused on Bulletin Boards.

PREPARE FOR EXODUS

Washington, Nov. 4.—Washington never saw such crowds on election night as gathered last evening in front of the newspaper offices and paraded Pennsylvania avenue.

Many anxious eyes were focused on the early bulletins forecasting the election of Governor Wilson, and later bulletins were patiently awaited in the faint hope that completed returns might change the trend of the landslide. The change of administration on March 4, with the democrats in control of the distribution of patronage, means a great deal to republican officeholders in Washington who are outside the protection of the civil service classification.

Cabinet Members Get News.
At the white house Attorney General and Mrs. Wickersham, Secretary of the Interior and Mrs. Fisher and Secretary of Commerce and Labor and Mrs. Nagel gathered to receive bulletins furnished by the telegraph companies and the press associations. They occupied the cabinet room.

The secretaries declined to discuss for publication the defeat of President Taft or make any comment upon the election returns, but white house employees frankly stated last night that the president and members of his administration considered the battle hopeless from the day the republican forces were broken by the nomination of the progressive ticket.

Result Pleases Many.
There was considerable enthusiasm in front of the bulletin boards at the newspaper offices, where returns were shown by stereopticon. Democratic gains were loudly applauded, the pictures of democratic leaders were received with approval, showing that there are many democrats among the federal officeholders who have held their places during the long period of republican administration, through the protection of the civil service laws, and that many have entered the public service through the civil service laws.

There was some rowdiness on the streets, and several times students from rival colleges clashed as they paraded, but the police did not experience much difficulty in preserving order.

For several months republicans holding federal offices who are not protected by the civil service laws have been preparing for the exodus which will take place beginning March 4. Real estate agents have noted that among this class of tenants there has been objection to renewing leases for the ensuing year.

May Alter Civil Service.
A Wilson victory was so certain in the judgment of many of these bureau chiefs and other subordinate officials that they have permitted the leases upon their apartments and the houses where they have been making their homes to expire, they deciding to live in quarters which could be rented from month to month.

It is not expected that the democratic administration will attempt any material modification of the civil service laws to bring about a general discharge of republicans, who are in the classified service. Some of the recent orders extending the classified service, especially that placing fourth-class postmasters under it may be revoked or modified.

It is reasonably certain that the democrats in the senate will attempt to prevent the confirmation of important nominations, especially to judgeships, and do all they can to prevent the filling of such offices until after March 4. At the last session they succeeded in having a long list of nominations held up, and a degree of success is certain to accompany further efforts in this direction.

NOTABLE EVENTS DURING OCTOBER

Many Happenings of Wide Interest Held All Attention.

FEATURED IN NEWS

New York, Nov. 4.—October has been a notable month, with many happenings of local and world wide interest to crowd the columns of the newspapers.

Here are some of the things which have happened in the month:

The trial of Lieut. Charles Becker for the murder of Herman Rosenthal was begun on the 7th and ended in record time with the conviction of the accused policeman, who has been sentenced to the electric chair. Just prior to the beginning of this trial "Big Jack" Zelig, an important witness in the Becker case, was shot on a street car by "Red Phil" Davidson.

On Friday, October 11, the mobilization of the Atlantic fleet was completed in the Hudson river, making an imposing display of 720,488 tons of fighting craft. During the stay of the fleet Design Adm. H. Butler, of the battle ship Rhode Island, was drowned. On October 16 the fleet passed out to sea. The world's baseball series was ended October 16, the championship going to Boston.

On October 14 Theodore Roosevelt was shot.

October 17 the allied Balkan states, Greece, Montenegro, Servia and Bulgaria, took up the cause of Macedonian christians and declared war on Turkey. During the month Gen. Felix Diaz, nephew of Porfirio Diaz, formerly president of Mexico, announced a new revolt and was proclaimed provisional president. He was captured October 23 by Gen. Joachim Beltran and the revolt ended.

The senatorial committee investigating campaign contributions brought to light startling facts concerning contributions to the republican campaign fund in 1904.

On October 3 the Springfield express on the New Haven road was wrecked at Westport, Conn., and nine persons were killed and fifty injured.

On October 23 Miss Sophia Singer was murdered in Chicago.

COMBINATION

The word "combination" is not here used in its ordinary, modern, business sense. It has reference to the happy combination that has made this bank the great success that everyone knows it to have been.

It refers to the fact that the officers are practical and successful bankers, while the directors are practical and successful business men.

That makes a combination mighty hard to beat, especially when the officers and directors all pull together. This bank also combines the safety of a national bank with the conveniences of a savings bank. It maintains a saving department where interest is paid at the rate of 4 per cent.
